INTERIM GOVERNMENT FOR PALESTINE IS PROPOSED

SAYS U. S. KOREA PROPOSAL OKAYED

Moscow Radio Voices Hope For Hurdling Obstacles In That Nation

SEES NO REASON TO DELAY JOINT COMMISSION MEET

LONDON, May 10.—(AP)—The Moscow radio said today that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had accepted American proposals on Korea and expressed hope that the two powers now could hurdle the obstacles which for a year have blocked steps for creation of a Democratic provisional government in Korea.

The radio said Molotov sent a letter to Secretary of State Marshall accepting an American formula for determining what Korean representatives should be allowed to appear before the joint U. S.-Soviet commission on Korea, and stating:

"I hope that thus there no longer exists any reason for delaying the convening of the joint commission" Molotov has proposed that the commission opens its session in Seul on May 20.

The commission broke up in May of last year over Russian insistence on qualifications for Koreans testifying before the commission that would virtually have restricted such Koreans to Communists and their supporters.

The letter was the fourth in a series between the two diplomats on the future of Korea, now occupied by Russian forces in the north and American forces in the south.

Marshall had opened the subject during the recent foreign ministers' meeting in Moscow with a letter to Molotov calling upon the Soviet Union to join with the United States in restoration of Korean independence as soon as possible.

Molotov replied with a three-point program for Korea including formation of a provisional government including "democratic" parties, creation of "democratic" organs of power through free elections, and aid to Korea in developing her economy and culture.

Marshall responded with insistence that all Korean political elements be consulted on the future government, regardless of what previous opinions they had expressed.

Molotov's last letter, which the Moscow radio said was delivered to Marshall in Washington by the Soviet Ambassador, cited an exchange of correspondence between the Soviet and American commanders in Korea in November and December of last year.

The Soviet commander proposed that the commission consult democratic parties and organizations which support fully the decisions on Korea reached at the meeting of the U. S., British and Soviet foreign ministers at Moscow in December, 1945.

That decision provided for placing Korea under a trusteeship of the United States, Russia, Britain and China for a period not to exceed five years, during which time the U. S. and Soviet commands would handle preparatory matters.

Many Korean political leaders, with the exception of the Communists, had criticized the trusteeship proposal, saying it might postpone and perhaps endanger the ultimate independence for their country.

The Soviet commander proposed that Korean organizations could not appoint representatives before the commission who had "compromised"

YOUNG BOY IS TOLD HIS LEGS ARE GONE

CHICAGO, May 10.—(AP)—There was no tears, no crying after six-year-old Dale Richey learned for the first time yesterday that he had lost both of his legs as the result of a gasoline explosion six weeks ago.

Dale's father, Howard Richey, came to his son's hospital room and talked about soldiers who had lost their legs in the war and how they had learned to walk again. Then Richey, a 37-year-old time-study engineer, told his son that both his legs had been amputated just below the knees.

"You're going to be all right, son," Richey told him. But your legs are going to be shorter than they were before. They were so badly burned that the doctors had to take off the feet. You will have to learn to walk all over again."

"How will I be able to do that?" the boy asked as he kept turning the pages of a comic book.

"We will get some wooden legs for you. All the soldiers in the war who had their legs cut off had to learn how to walk all over again."

Dale was silent for a minute.

"I'd rather sit," he said.

The father changed the subject. Only last Tuesday he had told his wife for the first time of the amputation. He had withheld the news until after she had given birth to a baby boy. Splints had been affixed to the boy's upper legs so Mrs. Richey would not know they had been amputated.

Before leaving Dale's room, Richey reached into a paper bag and handed him some new toys. Dale looked up from his comic book and smiled.

"That's all right, Daddy," the youngster said.

Monroe is a city that has so appealed to J. O. Green, middle-aged and well-to-do resident of Quanah, Tex., that he has cast his lot here and has gone so far as to pasture his fine herd of Hereford cattle in the Twin Cities. And also Mr. Green has persuaded his married daughter, Mrs. R. E. Foster, to leave the allurements of New Orleans in order to come to Monroe to reside.

"I have lived in Quanah for nearly 30 years and have raised livestock there," Mr. Green stated, "but the past year or two we have had drouths and this has made me anxious to find a new location. After studying the map and making personal investigations, I concluded that the location and climate of Monroe is what I want, so here I am," he stated. Mr. Green has already purchased his home at 615 Filhiol Avenue, near Northeast Junior College, and he has placed his 100 head of blooded livestock on McGuire property in West Monroe, where they will have 600 acres of grazing at their disposal. "This town looks like the very place I have long sought after, and my daughter, Mrs. R. E. Foster, also is well suited to exchange New Orleans for a home with us here in Monroe," Mr. Green declared.

The Little Theatre has found a new and simpler method of painting flats for its next production, "You Can't Take It With You," which will be presented on the Neville High School stage next Wednesday and Thursday, May 14 and 15, at 8:15 p.m. Since Vera Troy, who is playing the feminine

POW WOW ONCE MORE HONORED

Makes All-American Rating For 12th Successive Year

Capturing an All-American rating for the twelfth consecutive time, the Pow Wow, Northeast Junior College bi-weekly newspaper, continues to hold a record unequaled in the nation. The title gives the publication a standing maintained by no college or university newspaper in the state nor any junior college paper of its class in the United States.

The award was based on issues of the Pow Wow published during the first semester of the 1946-47 school term and edited by James V. Mathis, veteran student from West Monroe.

The rating announced Saturday by Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, faculty adviser of the publication, was made by the Associated Collegiate Press, accrediting agency of college newspapers, yearbooks and magazines. Scoring was done through the critical service of the organization whose headquarters are at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

Ratings are given after the A. C. P. analyzes and evaluates all phases of content such as news values and sources, news and feature writing, editing, makeup and departmental pages.

On news values and sources the Pow Wow scored "excellent" on coverage, balance, vitality and treatment; on news writing and editing the newspaper rated "excellent" on content, organization, style, leads, features, copyreading and proofreading. It also scored "excellent" on each of the following: headlines, typography, front page makeup, inside page makeup and printing.

Judges gave additional points in rating editorials, the highest score awarded to any phase of the paper. Features and makeup of the editorial page were termed "excellent." This same rating was given to the sports page which was analyzed as to coverage and treatment, writing and display.

The only "very good" score went to creativeness in feature stories.

Besides Mathis, members of the editorial staff at the time the issues of the Pow Wow were submitted for judging were: Associate editor, Johnny Mullin, West Monroe; feature editor, Edwina Hudson, West Monroe;

MRS. M'LEAN ESTATE VALUED AT $919,550

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—The estate of Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, prominent Washington hostess and owner of the Hope diamond, was estimated at 919,550 in a petition filed today for probate of her will.

Value of jewels left by Mrs. McLean at her death here April 26 was lumped at "not less than $350,000," with no separate figure for the Hope gem which legend called unlucky.

The petition, filed in federal district court by Thurman Arnold, an executor of the estate, expressed the view that Mrs. McLean's debts ran about $174,000.

Mrs. McLean's grandchildren eventually will share the estate about 20 years from now. Meanwhile, the will contained provisions for her two sons, John R. and Edward McLean, and gave her son-in-law, former U. S. Senator Robert R. Reynolds, use of her mansion, Friendship, for life.

Laughn Is Laughn, Vaughn Is Vaughn But VA Employes Can't Get It Straight

Choudrant Twins Spread Confusion With Similar Names And War Records

Mention the Massey twins and VA workers from here to Washington are sure to pale—for these two ex-GIs have caused enough confusion and embarrassment to make the most hardened hireling regard their approach with trepidation.

The VA's system of identification and record-keeping is nearly foolproof, they say, but with no effort at all Laughn W. and Vaughn W. Massey of Choudrant have almost succeeded in gumming it up.

Although not identical twins—Laughn is somewhat taller and heavier than his brother—the boys have enough in common to make the dissimilarity in appearance of secondary importance.

Both were drafted into the army on April 20, 1944, and were sent to the same training camps. They embarked for Europe on the same boat, and served in the same unit, the combat engineers, in Europe. Both were assigned to drive trucks, both were in charge of two and a half ton transports, and in quarters, one slept over the other in the army's two-tier bunks.

In an enemy shelling of a small town just across the Saar, both were wounded by the same piece of shrapnel as they worked on opposite sides of a ditch. Vaughn was struck in the eye and Laughn in the leg—a slight deviation—and they were carried from the front lines together and sent to the same field hospital.

Then for the first time they were separated; but they traveled over identical routes and ended up in the same town in England.

When Laughn heard from his parents that Vaughn was in a hospital on the other side of the same city, he contacted the medical officers and asked that his brother be transferred. The next afternoon they were reunited in the same ward of Laughn's hospital.

They remained together for the rest of the time in the army, and were discharged at the same time last June.

Whether by fate or the purposeful design of their officers, the two boys were accorded the same treatment and received the same assignments: when one was transferred, the other went along; when Vaughn had recovered from his injuries, he was kept in the hospital until Laughn could also be released; when one was eligible

6 PASTORS SPEAK AT GOLSON RITES

Public Officials, Citizens Say Last Farewell To West Monroe Mayor

Business was suspended in West Monroe between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon while citizens gathered at the First Baptist church there to pay their last respects to Mayor D. C. Golson. They were joined by hundreds from this side of the river and by public officials of the Twin Cities and Ouachita parish and from all over Northeast Louisiana.

The funeral oration by Dr. C. E. Autrey, pastor of the church, and participating in the service, each delivering a brief eulogy, were five other ministers, who knew and revered the late mayor. They were the Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Monroe, and the Rev. W. H. Giles of the First Methodist church, the Rev. A. T. Mitchell of the Ridge Avenue Baptist church, the Rev. A. L. Tanner of the Assembly of God and the Rev. Filer J. Seal of the Trinity Baptist church, all of West Monroe.

Members of the West Monroe council and the other officials of that city attended in a body and present were the Ouachita parish police jurors and school board members, with whom Mayor Golson was closely associated in public affairs. Mayor Harvey H. Benoit and City Attorney S. L. Digby, who were enroute home from a trip to Washington, D. C., when Mayor Golson was fatally stricken, and did not know of his death until their arrival here early Saturday morning, attended the services with C. R. Tidwell, Monroe commissioner of streets and parks.

Burial was in the Hasler cemetery.

MOTHER'S DAY IS ACCOUNTING TIME

The First Methodist church of Monroe will observe Mother's day by an accounting of donations for the building fund.

Up to date, approximately $150,000 has been received in cash and the building fund committee has set a goal for $18,000 additional which sum it is hoped to reach when Mother's day donations are received.

The church is desirous of constructing a new church edifice and educational building.

10 HIGH GERMAN OFFICERS BILLED

Two Field Marshals, 10 Generals Indicted Before U. S. Tribunal

NUERNBERG, Germany, May 10.—(AP)—Two German field marshals and 10 generals were indicted before an American tribunal today as war criminals, charged with executing at least 13,000 persons in the Balkans and in Norway in retaliation for resistance attacks that killed 60 German soldiers.

Field Marshall Wilhelm List, commander of the 12th German army, and Field Marshall Maxmilian von Weichs, chief of the second army, were charged with setting up this yardstick for executing hostages in the Balkans:

For the death of one German soldier by resistance groups, 100 hostages; for the wounding of one German soldier, 50 hostages; for an act of sabatage, 10 hostages.

The indictment, handed down by Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief U. S. prosecutor, charged these generals, in addition to List and von Weichs, with war crimes and crimes against humanity:

Col. Gen. Lothar Rendulic, commander in the Norwegian campaign; Generals Walter Kuntze, Hermann Foertsch, Franz Boehme, Wilhelm Speidel, Kurt von Geitner, Helmut Selmy, Hubert Lanz, Ernst Demner and Ernst von Leyser.

Their crimes, said Gen. Taylor in the indictment, included "murder, ill-treatment and deportation of slave labor, plunder of public and private property, wanton destruction of cities, towns and villages and executions of hostages."

A British military tribunal at Venice has sentenced Field Marshall Albert Kesselring, German commander in Italy, to be shot for ordering execution of hostages.

Taylor listed 23 specific instances where hostages were shot on orders of the defendants in Greece, Albania and Yugoslavia. Prosecutors Clark Denny and Theodore Fenstermacher,

EARL LONG IS IN STATE RACE

Winnfield Man Announces Candidacy For Governor

Declaring that his record testifies to his political and personal honesty and that he is willing to stand or fall on that record, Earl K. Long of Winnfield has issued a formal announcement of his candidacy for governor of Louisiana in the Democratic primary election of January, 1948.

Former Governor Long asserted in his formal announcement that he does not believe any public official was ever investigated as he was, nor does he believe that any candidate for public office can come before the people with a stronger testimonial of his integrity than the one his opponents were forced to give him.

After listing the things accomplished for the people during the four years he was lieutenant-governor and governor, Mr. Long sets forth his platform.

During the time he served as lieutenant-governor and governor, Mr. Long asserts, roads and bridges were built in large numbers; new state hospitals at New Orleans, Lafayette, Monroe, Alexandria and Independence became realities; a modern tuberculosis hospital was erected at Greenwell Springs; a state welfare department was created; a real department of labor and unemployment relief was established, and a teachers' tenure and retirement system was set up which guaranteed the teachers against political interference.

Mr. Long lists the planks in his platform as follows:

1. Favors a law requiring the governor to furnish a statement of his financial condition at the time he takes office and another financial statement at the time he turns the office over to his successor.

2. Proposes to grant substantial relief to all real estate taxpayers, and to use the surplus in the property tax relief fund to further increase homestead exemptions.

3. Proposes to widen all main high-

DEDICATE WAR MEMORIAL AT WINNSBORO WEDNESDAY

Formal dedication of the Franklin Parish War Memorial fair grounds and athletic field will be held at Winnsboro next Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Principal speaker at the ceremonies will be city judge C. A. Barnett, of Ruston, Governor Davis, who will be at Cheniere earlier in the day, is also expected to be present.

Under the newly installed 180,000 watt lights, making the field the 3rd most illuminated in the state, Winnsboro and Ferriday baseball teams will play the fourth game of their season.

Construction of the memorial was begun a little over a year ago, and has been completed except for several buildings.. The final cost has been estimated at over $100,000.

"In designing the memorial," Don Meyer, one of the sponsors stated, "we endeavored to get away from the usual inanimate type. We put up the fair grounds and athletic field because we wanted something which by promoting wholesome sports and recreation, would be a real recognition of the debt we owe to those who died to preserve our way of life."

Radio station KNOE will broadcast Judge Barnett's speech from 8:30 to 8:45 Wednesday night, and will rebroadcast a complete recording of the entire activities Thursday morning.

PHONE OPERATORS OUT IN SYMPATHY

Won't Return To Work Through Picket Lines Of Other Groups

SOUTHWESTERN EMPLOYES TURN DOWN FIRM'S OFFER

ATLANTA, May 10.—(AP)—Members of the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers, their own strike settled, refused today to go through picket lines of affiliated unions and return to their jobs.

As a result there was no appreciable restoration of service in the nine states in which the Southern Bell Telephone company operates when termination of the 33-day-old walkout of non-supervisory employes came at 6 a. m.

The Association of Communications Equipment Workers, which is still striking against Western Electric, a Bell System affiliate, had picket lines around exchanges in all the major cities except Nashville, Tenn., where an injunction blocked picketing.

Three Mississippi towns reported operators were returning to work. The Western Electric employes at Hattiesburg removed their picket line shortly after noon and operators went back to their jobs. West Point and Vicksburg also reported that normal service had been restored.

In Memphis and Nashville, S. F. T. W. members went into a "continuous session" meeting to await developments in the Western Electric strike. Walter C. Gross, chairman of the local at Nashville, said "honorary picket lines" would be respected.

Negotiations seeking a settlement of the Western Electric strike are underway in New York and Washington.

Members of the S. F. T. W. met in Atlanta to denounce the $2, $3, and $4 wage increases which brought a settlement of their strike as "plainly inadequate and unjust." Originally the union had asked a $12-a-week across the board wage increase.

The telephone company announced that its long distance and manual service would remain on an emergency basis until workers return.

MOST LONG DISTANCE OPERATORS STILL OUT

C. E. Faulk Jr. President Daily Newspaper Group

M. T. Lipp of Winnsboro was elected president of the Louisiana Press Association at the annual convention here Saturday. Next year's meeting will be held at International House in New Orleans.

C. E. Faulk, Jr., of the Ruston Leader, was elected president of the daily section of the association.

C. P. Liter, general manager of the Baton Rouge State Times and Morning Advocate, was elected vice-president and John Franz, business manager of the New Orleans Item, re-elected secretary.

The association is advocating a broader reforestation and conservation program to foster additional newsprint mills, and relieve the paper shortage.

William H. Fitzpatrick, editor of The New Orleans States, supported the institution of a research program bagasse and rice in addition to timber, to find methods of producing newsprint fro msuch crops as wheat straw.

Construction of paper mills in the south was urged by C. E. Faulk, Jr., of the Ruston Daily Leader. Matt Vernon of the New Iberia Daily Iberian supported the idea of a mill in Louisiana.

John F. Tims, Jr., business manager and vice-president of the Times-Picayune Publishing Company, New Orleans, told of a publisher's attempt to start a mill at Childersburg, Ala.

Plans for drafting a new constitution for the state of Louisiana were discussed yesterday before the newspaper men by Dean Paul M. Hebert of the Louisiana State University law school, and John D. Ewing, editor

96-YEAR-OLD MAN HELD FOR ATTACK

PICKENS, S. C., May 10.—(AP)—Anderson Evatt, 96-year-old Pickens County man, today faced a charge of assault with intent to ravish.

Sheriff W. H. Mauldin said a 13-year-old girl alleged Evatt attempted to rape her Thursday afternoon.

In applying for bail, A. D. Mann, Jr., Evatt's attorney, requested that it be light because, he explained, his client "is not a well man by virtue of his age and physical condition." Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., fixed bail at 1,000.

Would Rule Until Issue Is Solved

Proposition Tossed Before 55-Nation Political Committee Of Special United Nations Assembly On Palestine

By Francis W. Carpenter

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—The Philippines proposed today an interim government for Palestine, possibly under United Nations care, which would guarantee the rights of everyone there until the Holy Land issue is solved.

This proposition was tossed before the 55-nation political committee of the special United Nations assembly on Palestine shortly after the United States and Soviet Russia had disagreed on vital orders for a committee of inquiry into the troubled zone.

The political committee turned the Philippine idea and at least a half dozen others over to a subcommittee with instructions to try to present a complete resolution to the full political committee Monday (11 a. m. E. D. T.) The subcommittee began work this afternoon and expected to work over the week-end.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, chief of the Philippine delegation to the assembly suggested the careful study by the proposed inquiry committee into "various necessary arrangements whereby an interim government, possibly under the supervision of the United Nations, may be established to guarantee the due observance of the existing rights of all peoples and governments concerned, including those of the mandatory power (Britain) which may require settlement or liquidation by peaceful agreement."

Gen. Romulo said the independence of Palestine is a matter of simple justice. After the committee meeting, he told newsmen that he envisioned a sort of temporary regime over Palestine which would serve until it could be determined just what form of government that country would have.

The point of independence was the one over which Herschel V. Johnson, United States, and Andrei A. Gromyko, deputy foreign minister of Russia, crossed verbal swords.

Gromyko has proposed that the inquiry group submit proposals to the next regular assembly, meeting in September. These would include a "proposal on the question of establishing without delay the independent state of Palestine."

Johnson opened the committee meeting with an attack on this section, arguing that the assembly must not impose any such mandatory stipulations upon the inquiry committee.

Gromyko insisted in reply that he was not trying to impose any one idea upon the committee. He was backed by Asaf Ali, of India, the Yugoslav delegation and the Arab states, who have insisted since the assembly began two weeks ago that independence of Palestine was what they wanted.

Johnson found support from Columbia, Australia and Belgium.

After the committee meeting Gromyko said that it was found a majority of the 55 members did not favor writing that one idea into the final instructions, he would not insist.

The assembly still is in the committee stage after two weeks of debate and argument.

The political committee, which will not convene until Monday, must decide after it has completed work on the instructions for the inquiry group, just what states will serve on it. The big five is split on that proposition. The United States, Britain and China are against serving on the committee, Russia insists that the five great powers must serve.

After the committee finally acts, the matter goes back to the full assembly for final adoption. The best guess on adjournment now available is for late next week. The secretariat is push-

SCOTT ADJUDGED MENTALLY SICK

Representative In Shooting Will Be Sent To Veterans' Hospital

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 10.—(AP)—Admitting "I've just had a little trouble finding the spot I belong in," gaunt Jimie Scott, who returned from 30 months service with army in the Pacific to become a state representative from Holdenville, Okla., today was judged mentally ill after shooting of State Senator Tom Anglin on the floor of the Oklahoma Senate.

Three physicians found Scott was a victim of Paranoia, described as a dangerous type of insanity, and County Judge C. J. Blinn signed the commitment order which places the veteran in the care of the Veterans Administration which will send him to a hospital.

Scott shot Anglin, also from Holdenville, on the floor of the Senate last Wednesday, and Thursday pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with intent to kill. Anglin received a flesh wound in the hip and is recovering in a hospital.

Dr. James H. Parker, Veterans Administration psychiatrist, Dr. John S. Fine and Dr. George L. Borecky examined Scott intensively for 40 minutes before all three agreed Scott was mentally sick.

Scott, although hesitant, told of the events leading up to the shooting of Anglin.

"The trouble was with the Senator from my district (Anglin), a life-long friend. A page came in and said the Senator wanted to see me. I went to him and he said he hadn't sent a page. Then it happened again.

"I went out to eat and came back in the afternoon and we had a discussion. We talked about how long the Legislature would run, and we had some differences . . . you all know about them."

Then Scott told about his long friendship with Anglin and admitted he had borrowed money from the senator and done business with him.

"You don't think he was persecuting you or had it in for you, do you? the doctors asked.

"I don't know why he should."

"I don't know, I don't know."

"Did you think the senator was trying to kill you?" Dr. Parker asked

"No."

"Did you try to kill him the other day?"

"I didn't shoot to hit him—No sir," he hesitated.

"Did you shoot to scare him?"

"I don't think I scared him."

"Are you sorry this thing has happened?"

"I'm very sorry. I considered it an

KERR SAYS BAPTIST MESSAGE ATTRACTIVE

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—(AP)—Robert S. Kerr, immediate past governor of Oklahoma, told Southern Baptists nearing the end of their five-day convention tonight in a prepared address that they have "the most important and most attractive message for the youth of the twentieth century of any organization on earth."

Kerr is a director of the Southern Baptist Foundation and a former president of the Oklahoma Baptist convention.

"Southern Baptists should use the knowledge and technique of the modern world to more effectively carry their message to countless millions of modern youth who may never otherwise receive it," Kerr said, "but I fear we are permitting the fast-moving pace of this modern world to deprive youth of their greatest need—the Bible."

"In whatever time man has inhabited the earth he has made amazing progress in logic, literature, history, philosophy and science. But man's nature has not changed.

"He cannot have a Christian citizenship without the teaching of the Bible. There cannot fail to be a Christian citizenship where the Bible is taught.

"We must realize the necessity for teaching the Bible to our youth. And we must realize that these children are of this generation and not of the days past and gone.

"The greatest fields for our endeavors of tomorrow are in our own homes and Sunday school classes and to the extent that we succeed in these fields we will succeed beyond them.

"We live in the presence of our unfinished tasks."

STASSEN WILLING TO TAKE SECOND PLACE

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen, seeking the Republican Presidential nomination in 1948, said today he might be willing to take the vice presidential nomination if his bid for the top spot fails.

"It would depend on who the Presidential candidate is to be," he said, "and what the platform contains."

Meanwhile Gov. Earl Warren of California, who has been mentioned as a possibility for the Republican presidential or vice presidential nomination, declared there has been no change in the attitude he expressed last fall when he said he wished his friends would not try to run him for president.

"I am not a candidate for any office other than that I hold at the present time," he said.

Stassen, Warren, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and other political figures from out of town were here for the Gridiron Club dinner tonight.

Stassen, disclosing his attitude toward the vice presidential nomination in reply to a question, told an interviewer that he will continue his campaign for the presidential nomination.

The first test in this campaign, he said, will come next spring in the Wisconsin preferential primary. In seeking Wisconsin convention delegates, Stassen may be in competition with Dewey.

GEORGE WHITE ENDS TERM ON ROAD GANG

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 10.—(AP)—George (Scandals) White, a free man again today after eight and one-half months on a county road gang, reiterated the belief "they done me wrong."

The former New York and Hollywood theatrical producer, 55, claims he was the victim of an unjust sentence for felonious hit-and-run driving.

But Superior Judge Joe L. Shell, who sentenced White last August, commented: "If he feels he didn't get justice, he can go to the grand jury, and I'll go with him."

White was sentenced to one year and fined $600 after pleading guilty to the charge, which involved the deaths of Claude McLester Lee, 42, Santa Ana, Calif., and his bride of a few hours, Leona, 18. White has steadily maintained he dozed at the wheel and had no knowledge of hitting the couple.

His term was cut by good behavior and work credits, for the last several months as a sheepherder at 35 cents a day. Earlier he worked with pick and shovel.

Tanned by his outdoor activity, White said he planned to resume his career as a producer shortly.

Could Cleopatra Drink a Pearl with Stomach Ulcer Pains?

An intriguing story of Cleopatra is the one where an admirer praised the beauty of two of her pearls, whereupon she dropped one into a glass of wine and drank it. She would hardly have done this had she suffered after-eating pains. Those who are distressed with stomach or ulcer pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, bloat and other conditions caused by excess acid should try Udga. LITTLE THEATRE TO CLOSE YEAR

'You Can't Take It With You' Has Capable Cast

The Little Theatre of Monroe winds up its 1946-47 season on a high note of entertainment Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 14 and 15, at 8:15 o'clock on the stage at Neville High School. The play selected for the final production is the ever popular comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, "You Can't Take It With You." No play could have been chosen that would have greater audience appeal, for there is never a dull moment from the beginning 'til the curtain rings down on the final scene. Kay Crandall who has so ably directed the Little Theatre productions this season, is now in the process of guiding her well-chosen cast through the last-minute finishing touches necessary for the kind of well-produced plays Monroe has been privileged to see this season.

Tickets for this plan are now on sale at the following places: Silverstein's, Bernheim Bros., Alice Henry's Millinery, The Hollywood Restaurant, and Armandine Renaud's Dance Studio. Or tickets may be purchased from any member of the cast.

The scene of this play is the home of Martin Vanderhof — the lovable "Grandpa." Grandpa's home is just around the corner from Columbia University where "Grandpa" attends commencements, one of the greatest pleasures in life to him. The room which will be seen on stage is what is customarily described as a living room, but in this house the term is something of an understatement—the every-man-for-himself-room would be more like it. For here meals are eaten, plays are written, snakes collected, ballet steps practiced, xylophones played, printing presses operated—if there were room enough there would probably be ice skating. In short, the brood presided over by Martin Vanderhof goes on about the business of living in the fullest sense of the word. From "Grandpa" Vanderhof down, they are individualists. This is a house where you do as you like, and no questions asked.

"You Can't Take It With You," boasts a cast of well-qualified actors and actresses.

Frank Breece (Martin Vanderhof) returns to the stage of the Little Theatre in his second role of the season, having played the part of Fritz in "Claudia." Frank, a veteran member of the Little Theater, returned to his home town of Monroe a year ago, after having served in the army in the Philippines and Hawaii. Since that time he has actively participated in Little Theatre work, and has been one of its staunch supporters.

Vera Troy (Penelope Sycamore) is following in the footsteps of her son, Dick, who has given two outstanding performances this year. This is her first Little Theatre play, but she recalls a performance as a ballet dancer at a company show when she was working with the National City Bank, N. Y. Mrs. Troy was born in England, so she comes naturally by the dry wit which is always as good as the best of Penny. She is an energetic worker with the League of Women Voters and the Cub Scouts, and recently directed them in their minstrel at Georgia Tucker.

Armandine Renaud (Essie Carmichael) has served on props and set crew for numerous Little Theatre shows. This, however, is her first time on-stage. Armandine has studied with Ruth St. Dennis, Tarasoff, Serova, and Vestoff in New York. She has had many offers of professional dance work in New York, but preferred to return to her home to teach local people.

Ken Jackson (Ed Carmichael), a graduate radio engineer from the University of Michigan, has now been with KNOE since September. Ken was with the navy air corps in the Southwest Pacific during the war. He has been in many high school plays, and was an active member of the set crew on "The Male Animal" and "Uncle Harry," where he handled the fast changes of furniture.

Maxine Plummer (Alice Sycamore), is a native of Shreveport where she appeared in her senior class play. She lived in Monroe when her husband was stationed at Selman field, before following him around the country Maxine is now attending N. J. C.

James McBeth (Tony Kirby) will be remembered by Little Theatre audiences for his outstanding work in the stellar role of "Uncle Harry." This is McBeth's third appearance of the season, having also been seen as the college football hero in "The Male Animal."

Helen Allen (Rheba), the former Helen Fernandez, returned to Monroe last year with her husband who is now with KMLB. She studied speech under Mrs. Perritt at Neville, and at U. C. L. A. with the head of M.-G.-M.'s speech pathology department. Helen has played at N. J. C. and U. C. L. A. She did make-up and prompting on "Uncle Harry."

Lewis Eugene Ledeker (Donald) is from Sumner, Ill., and has been in Monroe since January with Deister, Ward and Witcher. Gene was a B-25 pilot in Yangkai, China, for two years as part of Chennault's 14th air force. He attended Evansville College and played in "Our Town" with the Community Players of Evansville, Ind.

Joe Saragusa (Kolenkhov) attended N. J. C. one semester where he was a member of Delta Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity. He appeared in numerous plays there. Joe served in the Pacific with the signal corps. He has just returned from working in Texas.

Fred James (Paul Sycamore) is a sophomore at N. J. C. He has been seen this year in "Adam's Evening," "The Visitor," and "Redskins On Parade." Fred returned last June from the navy!

Gus Bernheim (Mr. DePinna) is one of the Bernheim Bros. who have been selling Monroe records and radios for the past year and a half, coming here from their native Missouri. He has performed as a trumpet player, but this is his first play. He returned recently from three and one-half years with the seventieth infantry in Europe.

John Allen (Mr. Kirby) came to Monroe after doing free lance radio work in Los Angeles, including an appearance on the Dinah Shore program. He has done radio and Little Theatre work in numerous places throughout the country and is at present connected with KMLB as production manager. John will be remembered as George Waddy in "Uncle Harry."

Dorris Martin (Gay Wellington and Olga Katrina), a graduate of Neville High School and St. Francis Sanitarium, proves her versatility by playing two roles depicting entirely different characters.

Nell Grigsby (Mrs. Kirby) is continuity writer for KMLB. She has played in "My Sister, Eileen," "Over Twenty-One," "Heaven Can Wait," "Mr. Average American," and "The Patsy." She studied speech at Forest Park University, St. Louis.

Bid Causey (Mr. Henderson) is one of Little Theatre's most active workers, and will be seen tonight in his fourth play of the season. He will be remembered for outstanding performances as David in "Claudia," and Mr. Antrobus in "Skin of Our Teeth," and for the excellent job he did in two small parts as D'Arcy and the governor in "Uncle Harry." He is also a capable backstage worker, having served as stage manager in "The Male Animal." Bid is a graduate of L. S. U., and returned last spring from service with the army which included 2 1/2 years in Italy with the infantry.

Bert Bernheim (The Man) of Bernheim Bros., appeared in "My Sister, Eileen," last season. He returned last spring from service in England, Italy and France. Bert has appeared with New Orleans theater groups.

Len Reinsmith (G-man) came here in February to be associated with A. B. Myatt Accounting Firm. He is a native of Syracuse, N. Y., and a graduate of Colgate University with Phi Beta Kappa honors. He did graduate work at Syracuse University. While a captain at Selman field he met and married Evelyn Kennedy.

Tommy Flournoy (G-man) is a graduate of Ouachita High and a student at Northeast Junior College. He took part in plays in high school, but this is his first Little Theatre play. A versatile and enthusiastic worker, he is also helping with the props for Wednesday and Thursday's show.

YOUNG PIANISTS ARE TO APPEAR

Ethel Rogers And Joe Monroe To Be In Recital

Two young pianists termed "brilliant and talented" by many who have heard them, are scheduled to appear in recital on Tuesday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock, in Brown Hall auditorium at Northeast Junior College. Miss Ethel Rose Rogers, a senior in Columbia High School, and Joe Hamilton Monroe, Jr., a freshmen at Ouachita Parish High School, have planned a joint concert featuring compositions from pre-classic through contemporary works. Much interest is being expressed in their recital to which the public is invited without charge.

Miss Rogers began her early study of piano in Columbia and for the past three years has been a student of Florence Ziegler Allbritton at Northeast Junior College. During her high school days, Miss Rogers has achieved ratings in piano solos in the district and state music festivals at Ruston and Lafayette and the same ratings in auditions of the National Federation of Student Musicians, of which she is a member. She is assistant organist of the First Methodist Church in Columbia and is in constant demand as soloist and accompanist throughout the region surrounding that town.

Mr. Monroe began his study of piano with Mrs. Allbritton seven years ago, and has won numerous honors during this period. Along with Miss Rogers, he has also achieved the highest available ratings on each entry of district and state music festivals and in the student musicians auditions. He is a member of the National Federation of Student Musicians and of Sigma Phi Omega fraternity. His popularity as a soloist is well established all through this area of the state and an interesting future is predicted for him.

The program which these two musicians will present follows: Miss Rogers will play Sonata in G Major by Scarlatti, Gigue from French Suite No. 5 by Bach, Sonata No. 4 in F Major by Mozart, Fantaie Impromptu Op. 66, Prelude from Op. 28, No. 3, Prelude from Op. 28, No. 21, Polonaise Op. 56, Polonaise Op. 40, No. 21, Polonaise Op. 56, all by Chopin, Bear Dance by Bartok, Polka from The Golden Age by Shostakovich, Elegie, Op. 3, No. 1 by Rachmaninoff, Sonatina in C Major by Kabalevsky.

Mr. Monroe will give the following selections: Invention No. 4 by Bach, Sonata in F Minor (Bonn, No. 2) by Beethoven, Polonaise Op. 40, No. 1 (Militaire), Prelude from Op. 28, No. 6, Prelude from Op. 28, No. 7, Etude Op. 10, No. 12 (Revolutionary), all by Chopin, Rondo Capriccisosi, Op. 14 by Mendelssohn, The White Peacock by Griffes, and Two Etudes from Op. 15 by Jelobinsky.

TO ELECT WATER CARNIVAL QUEEN

Five Groups Name Candidates For Honor Of Ruling Over June Show

The first annual Louisiana Water Carnival which will be held in Monroe on June 7 and 8 will be climaxed on the afternoon of the second day, Sunday, with a gigantic show on Ouachita River, south of the Old Traffic Bridge.

The main feature show will be the motor boat races, which have been sanctioned by the American Power Boat and the Southwest Boat Racing Associations, and any records broken will be officially upheld. This fact, plus the $1,000 in cash prizes, is bringing to Monroe only the best of the power boat racers of the nation.

Already, the sponsors of the carnival have received over 60 entries and they expect many more before May 15, the deadline for entering. Most of the power boat racers are business and professional men who race as a hobby.

Another highlight of the show will be the award of a home laundry, and a five-horsepower outboard motor and boat. The Junior Commerce is sponsor of this "Mardi Gras in June."

Civic clubs and high schools of the Twin Cities and Northeast Louisiana are sponsoring candidates for queen of the Water Carnival and groups have announced their choices as follows: The Y's Men's Club, Patsy Livingston; Monroe Lions Club, Ruth Traylor; Optimist Club, Doris Landraux; Monroe Kiwanis Club, Nelda Monroe; and from Union parish, Linda Tugwell, of the Farmerville High School. Candidates from Northeast Junior College, Ouachita Parish High School and Neville High will be announced later.

Following the parade Saturday morning, the girl who has received the largest number of popular votes will be announced as queen and will preside with her attendants at the Water Carnival ball to be held Saturday night on the Virginia roof. The queen will receive a loving cup and will between her and her attendants there will be divided $1,000 in gifts, donated by the merchants of the Twin Cities.

STREAMLINING DONE BY NAVY

Enrollment Is Speeding Up Physical Screening Tests

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—(Special)—To speed enrollment of inactive naval reserves during the next five months the navy has streamlined its physical screening test, eighth naval district headquarters announced today.

The simplified procedure, under which commissioned officers and recruiting petty officers may conduct tests through a 24-point medical history questionnaire, will be in effect until October 1. Seven simple physical standards must be met in addition to successful completion of the test.

Questions about former hospitalizations, athletic injuries, hereditary disabilities and record of diseases make up the short test. Physical standards call for height of between five feet and six feet four inches, no obvious underweight or overweight condition, pulse rate of 100 a minute, no apparent bodily defects and average hearing and sight.

Other simplifications reduce the number of forms and administrative steps necessary for enrollment, the navy said. The tests are given only for enrollment in inactive service. Thorough physical examinations will be required for active duty.

Modern nursing practice was first developed by Florence Nightingale, who organized the care of the wounded during the Crimean war.

LOUISIANA IS BEING PHOTOED

National Geographical Magazine Artist Here For Views

Joseph Roberts, staff photographer of the National Geographic Magazine, is right now spending several days in Monroe and vicinity for the purpose of taking views to illustrate an article that is to appear soon in this famous magazine on the state of Louisiana.

Roberts came to Louisiana in time for the Mardi Gras in New Orleans and filmed pictures there; then he proceeded through each of the larger cities of the state and Monroe is now his last stand.

His pictures will illustrate stories by Frederick Simpich, one of the magazine's editors, and will reflect the new industrial Louisiana and its picturesque and recreational settings formed by both nature and by man.

Mr. Roberts was lieutenant commander in the recent war when he made motion pictures both overseas and in the States to be utilized in connection with training and entertaining service men and women.

The National Geographic Magazine is frequently devoting space to illustrated stories on the various states. The most recent one was on South Dakota, the illustrations for which were made by Mr. Roberts. He has also recently photographed Wisconsin and Minnesota.

He has received considerable assistance while here through the Chamber of Commerce and will remain in this area for several days. Last fall industry, as it concerns the utilization of natural gas, was given a careful local study by Howell Walker, writer for the Geographic Magazine, and some of the data thus obtained will be incorporated in the story of the entire state of Louisiana which is to be published soon.

Mr. Roberts has been with the same magazine for a number of years.

TROOPERS JAIL 6 AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Six arrests for allegedly driving while drunk were made during the week by members of Troop F of the Monroe state police post. One of the accused J. D. Broughton, 52, of Dubach, was additionally charged with causing property damage, and another, Albert Bolin, 47, Negro, of Tallulah, with fleeing the scene of an accident. The others were listed as Frank Palmer Perkins, 50, colored, of Monroe; Simon Peter Carroll, 49, of Grayson; Artis Jefferson, 35, colored, of Monticello, Ark., and J. W. Rogers, 45, of Rayville.

The other arrests were: O. W. Gothard, 29, of Houston, Texas, improper lights; Grady Hardware, 24, Negro, of 1319 Breard street, Monroe, passing discharging school bus; Fred Blackman, 26, Negro, and Linell Combs, 16, Oak Groves Negroes, operating motor vehicle without brakes, and Thelma Gaines, 32, colored, of Houston, Texas, reckless driving, causing accident and driving without operator's license.

The 4-Mill City School Tax

All property owners of Monroe are asked to go to the polls Tuesday to vote renewal of the city school tax that is now expiring. In this connection it is quite pertinent that some details be cleared up so that voters may be properly informed as to just what it all means. In the first place it is explained that it is not a new tax but is simply a renewal of the tax which is the same four mills that has been levied on properties for the past ten years. The time for which it will be voted is another ten years.

Monroe taxpayers do not help support both Monroe city and Ouachita parish schools, as taxes on property located within the city go to the city school board to be used to operate the city schools, while taxes paid on property in Ouachita parish, outside of the city of Monroe, go to the Ouachita parish school board to be used to operate the parish schools.

With the increased costs of salaries, labor and materials where improvements are necessitated, it is true that the city school millage tax could, as provided by the legislature, be increased, but such initiative for increase, it is regarded, should come from citizens of the community, the really democratic procedure.

The four-mill tax will provide approximately $93,000 annually and this sum is augmented by the three-mill constitutional tax, 75 per cent of the city fines, and equalization from the state department of education.

The city school board for the year 1946-1947 budgeted $304,165 for the current operation of the school system and the state department of education in bulletin No. 585 cited that the average state cost per white pupil is $100.10, while Monroe gives the cost per white pupil as $81.48, showing that Monroe's funds are well within and even below the average. The same is true in the matter of the handling of funds for the education of Negro children.

The city of Monroe unfortunately lacks a municipal auditorium but the loss is to a degree atoned for by the fact that each city school has an auditorium which is ever available to the public for civic, religious or recreational purposes. The campus of each school serves as a recreational center for adults and children after school hours, in evenings, over week-ends and during summer vacation.

The schools of Monroe are the property of Monroe citizens. Monroe citizens should not forget to continue support of them by voting for the renewal of the four-mill tax on Tuesday. Voting will be at the usual polling places throughout the city.

MOTHER'S DAY

Originated as a family affair in Philadelphia by Anna M. Jarvis in May 1907, "Mother's Day" has grown until it is now nation-wide in scope being set definitely for the second Sunday in May.

Today in Monroe as in all other cities and towns of the country, it will be observed. A white flower is worn in memory of a mother who has passed on while a red flower is to be worn in recognition of a living mother.

Unfortunately Miss Jarvis at 83 is blind and deaf at her home in West Chester, Pa., but she still has the enjoyment of having created a most important day in the calendar.

ATTACK ON MARSHALL

Americans have had enough experience with Russian press and radio comment to know that it is more likely to be concerned with thumping the tub for Soviet policies than with stating facts. Nevertheless, Izvestia's five-column diatribe on Secretary of State Marshall's account of the recent Moscow conference is an astonishing performance.

Here is a discussion of the Marshall report that does not confine itself to the issues considered or to the reasons for the positions taken by the Russian delegation on these matters. It goes far beyond the limits of fair debate to charge Secretary Marshall with "distortion," "evasion," and "misinforming the American public." It is a personal attack.

How such accusations can be made against an address that was primarily a recital of what happened is difficult to understand. Certainly the Soviet proposals were clearly stated by their representatives and Secretary Marshall repeated them faithfully. His conclusion that their effect would be a Germany headed for totalitarianism and new aggression may annoy the Russians but it does not present them "in a false light."

If the Russian reaction is deplorable and inexplicable, its very violence indicates that the regime feels under compulsion to put the blame for the failure at Moscow on Secretary Marshall. With that the case, the best course is to demonstrate that it rests on Soviet shoulders.

That may be hard to do as far as the Russian people are concerned, but it should not be much of a task outside of the land of the Muscovites.

NEAR BIN BOTTOM

America may not run out of wheat before the new crop begins to move, but it is going to be a close call.

Only 310,000,000 bushels of wheat were stored on and off farms on April 1. The United States has been consuming and exporting 100,000,000 bushels a month during the last year. If the country isn't scraping the bottom of the bin when wheat from combines in the Southwest begins to reach the market, there will be but a thin coating of the cereal at the bin's bottom.

Present U. S. stocks of wheat are 7 per cent below a year ago, but they are well above the stocks of 1935, 1936 and 1937 when recurring drouths had reduced crops far below normal. But at that time there was ample wheat for domestic demand and there was little foreign demand. Now exports under various relief programs are taking as much wheat as domestic consumers.

Formerly 150,000,000 bushels of wheat left over when harvest began was regarded as a safe margin. This year there will be considerably less than that. But prospects are for a crop of more than a billion bushels compared to the formerly normal crop of 700,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels. Tremendous crops raise the possibility of quick accumulation of a large surplus because domestic consumption requires only 700,000,000 bushels a year.

When Europe begins growing more wheat the American wheat farmer will be face to face with the necessity of cutting down.

RECOMMENDED: Paramount's "Welcome, Stranger" (Bing Crosby-Joan Caulfield-Barry Fitzgerald). Welcome comedy drama, marred only slightly by too slavish adherence to the "Going-My-Way" plot. . . . GOOD: United Artists' "Don Coyote" (Richard Martin-Frances Rafferty-Marc Cramer). Fast-moving romance that will add sparkle to any double bill. SO-SO: Republic's "Spoilers of the North" (Paul Kelly, Adrian Booth-Evelyn Ankers). Dirty work at the Alaskan crossroads, believe it or not—and most of you won't. . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Edmund Gwenn in "Miracle on 34th Street."

News that James Dunn will play Mickey Rooney's father in the MGM picture, "Killer McCoy," is good news—but the fact that Hollywood has been so slow in giving him a decent role reflects small credit on the studio bosses. Two years ago, Dunn won an Academy Award for his performance in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," one of the best characterizations I've seen in a good many years of film reviewing. Since then, he has appeared before the cameras only a couple of times, and in walk-through parts that any novice could have played. Considering the treatment handed out to him, and the similar neglect of Katina Paxinou, who went jobless for years after earning an award through her work in "For Whom the Bell Tolls," it's hard to be properly impressed by the Academy Oscars. Seemingly Hollywood isn't very impressed itself, if it can let actors and actresses capable of winning them twiddle their thumbs on the sidelines for years at a time.

Another case of juvenile vandalism made Hollywood news this week when a too-enthusiastic souvenir hunter snatched at Penny Singleton's ear-rings and tore the lobe of her ear. I've often criticized celebrities for dodging the attentions of their fans, but the unbridled rowdyism of a few youngsters has become so objectionable that I'll have to admit stars are sometimes justified. Getting out of the way when the hoodlum hounds start to bay seems about as imperative, for any star who values his health, as it is to seek a cellar in a tornado.

Donald O'Connor was reported to be in somewhat of a tizzy the other day because a local columnist had itemed that he would receive a mere $1,030 a week on his scheduled personal appearance tour in England, instead of the $10,000 a week called for by his contract. "Humiliating," said Mr. O'Connor. Well, things being as they are, maybe he had cause for complaint—but it does seem a bit ironic to hear a 20-year-old complaining about being "cheapened" by a salary of $1,000 every seven days.

Trade papers announced recently that an English technician has invented a new camera that takes perfect, three-dimensional pictures. That's exciting—but I can think of something that would excite me more. What movies really need is a few new angles on threadbare stories.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(NEA)—If it's the little insignificant things that count, Congress is doing fine, and more attention should be paid to some of the minor measures which have been passed so far this year.

This 80th Congress has been on the job four months now. It has three month, to go. Its record at bat is truly wonderful.

Up to May 1, 6589 pages of the Congressional Record had been filled with fine-type debate and miscellany, and 5138 bills and resolutions had been introduced—an average of nearly 160 per congressman. But in these four months only 45 of these measures have been made laws. Average time for getting these 45 laws passed, from introduction to signing by the president, has been 50 days apiece.

Congress may do better in the remaining three months. Even so, it looks as if a lot of things aren't going to get done at all. The cost of operating Congress, by the way, has nearly doubled. It ran about $15 million a year before the war. Next year's budget calls for $29 million.

Maybe it's time to page former Senator Bob LaFollette and Congressman Mike Monroney again and start getting serious about this business of reorganizing Congress for greater efficiency.

'Back Page' Legislation

Certainly, the important measures which have been passed this year can be counted on the fingers of one hand. They aren't so very world-shaking, either. Putting OPA out of business June 30, continuing war-time excise taxes, passing a constitutional amendment to limit future U. S. presidents to two terms or 10 years.

Important measures which the Republican leadership has put on its "must" list for passage before adjournment in July include: The new labor control bill, bill to provide foreign relief, tax reduction, new rent-control bill, aid to Turkey and Greece.

Since this leaves you your toes to play with, you might as well count up some of the unimportant things which Congress has had time to take care of, just to give everybody full credit. None of these things made the first pages, so you may have missed them:

First off, there was a bill to authorize the War Department to transport the Boy Scouts to their jamboree in Paris this summer, provide them with free passports. This takes care of the international situation in fine shape.

In the way of big financial transactions, there was a law passed to pay Switzerland $425.88 for the loss of food stored aboard the Japanese ship Awa Maru when it was sunk in the Pacific.

In the line of greatly needed social reforms, there were a couple of bills passed to provide for the promotion and pay sick leave to rural mail carriers.

Renaming of Boulder Dam in honor of Herbert Hoover was another hot project, even if Sen. Glenn Taylor did try to throw cold water on it by saying the law should also provide for making grass grow in the cracks on the concrete, embossing an apple on the face of the dam and renaming the spillway after Albert Fall.

From Robbery To Hot Steam

You may have read something about that great legislative achievement, but did you note that Congress had also passed a bill to erect a Theodore Roosevelt monument in Medora, N. D.?

The boys also got around to passing an amendment to the federal firearms act saying that robbery was a crime of violence. Seems they left out the word "robbery" by accident when the law was first passed in 1938.

Then there was a great piece of legislation passed to furnish government steam to the Daughters of the American Revolution. Not literally, that is, but to their hall in Washington for heating purposes.

From this list, it's easy to see that your interests are being looked after in Washington, if you don't care how.

Among the really important things about which nothing really constructive is apt to be done this year are: Unification of the arms service, universal military training, a long-range housing bill, federal aid to education, a national health insurance program, minimum wage and social security law revision.

Write your congressman.

Sunday School Lesson

THE STRUGGLE FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE

Scripture: The Book of Amos
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Laws and ideals are one thing; observances, performances and actualities are quite another thing.

Nowhere, perhaps, in all the history of nations are there to be found more idealistic regulations for the prevention of social injustice and oppression that it was sought to establish among the Jews in their ancient homeland.

One recalls the Cities of Refuge, the land laws, the provisions for the protection of debtors, the Year of Jubilee and other regulations all designed to safeguard human rights and welfare. And in addition to laws and regulations was the constant exhortation by religious prophets to acts of benevolence, consideration for the poor and a charitable spirit.

Yet, in spite of all this, injustice and oppression were prevalent. Then, as now, there were grafters and exploiters and self-seekers—lawless and greedy individuals who care nothing about what happened to others as long as they got what they wanted. There were betrayers of Jewish ideals, just as there are betrayers of democratic ideals and honorable standards today.

Imagine some thoughtful, intelligent, hard-working farmer who understands the conditions upon which our life and welfare depend coming into one of our modern cities. He would observe the ease and luxury of those making no real contribution to society, not to mention the evil and corruption that are so flagrant. Then you can understand something of what the Prophet Amos was to his times in ancient Israel.

Amos was a herdsman. Accustomed to clean living. He was roused to indignation by what he saw . . . "the dust of the earth on the head of the poor . . . the righteous sold for a pair of shoes."

He saw the gross immorality of fathers and sons, the turning of judgment to wormwood, and the abandonment of righteousness. He saw the very acts and rites of religion perverted, feasts observed and offerings sacrificed by those who had no true observance or sacrifice in their hearts.

Amos represents God as saying, "I hate, I despite your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies." But he calls for repentance: "Let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream."

Don't we need that call today? The association of righteousness with peace is not accidental. It reminds us of the only true foundation upon which peace can be built, whether it be domestic peace, industrial peace or international peace. Organization and negotiation are not enough. We must find, and build upon, a sure foundation of righteousness.

Our Children

GROWING A GARDEN

Children, plants, little new-born animals, feel the need to grow. We must help them all to do just that. One of the good ways to stimulate growth and intelligence in children is to teach them to tend a garden. In a garden there is abundant life, and we can do nothing better for a child than set him in a garden and help him find his way there. The Bible says that God set His first children in a garden. We may well follow His way.

First make certain that the bit of ground given the child is fertile soil, so it will really grow things for a beginner. Some people, knowing the difficulties a child gardener will encounter, the possibility of his stopping work after losing interest, give him a shady corner where the soil is packed. Nothing grows there and the child soon wearies and leaves off in disgust.

Give him a little plot of good earth and seeds that will be glad to grow for him. Nasturtiums—although they do have aphids—are good. Radishes are fine because they come up easily and can be harvested quickly and brought to the table. This last is important. When the young gardener learns that what he grows is enjoyed by the family, he feels inspired and wants to have more of the same feeling.

Let him plant a row of radishes, give him a couple of tomato plants, a few onion sets, sunflower seeds for the back row, a few kernels of corn. Stay by the venture to encourage and direct, and be lavish with praise.

There should be flowers for the borders. The nasturtiums can have a short end of the plot if they do well. Zinnias and marigolds are willing comers and they make a fine show. These few seeds will keep a young gardener busy for the season if someone acts as head gardener and enthusiastic teacher.

We want the young gardener to know the feeling of belonging to the earth and working in partnership with Nature. We want him to find, as he gardens through the years, the spiritual uplift and understanding that setting a seed and tending it to maturity bring to the gardener.

The mystery of life, birth and death are here in his hands. As he works with them, he learns to accept and follow the laws of the good life. Nobody knows why a seed has the power to take root and grow. But when one sets that seed and watches it grow, there comes to him a great thrill a feeling of kinship with infinity. It is this quality of spirit we would instill in a child through his garden.

"It is the idle child who develops annoying habits," writes Dr. Patri. He tells how good training avoids idleness and produces cheerful happy children. BIBLE THOUGHTS

But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you.—Matthew 5:44.

Love thyself last. Cherish those heart that hate thee.
Corruption wins not more than honesty.
Still in thy right hand carry gentle peace
To silence envious tongues.
Be just and fear not.
—Shakespeare.

VALENTINE EXPECTED TO SUE FOR CUSTODY OF HIS 4 CHILDREN

The criminal court action against Bennie Valentine, 37, formerly of Oak Grove, charged with kidnaping after he had taken a son and daughter from Sterlington to his home at Magnolia, Ark., last Monday, probably will be superceded by a civil suit to determine who is legally entitled to custody, District Attorney George W. Lester said yesterday.

Valentine, who was released on bond after being brought from Magnolia to the parish prison here Wednesday, was expected to bring the civil suit. It probably would be opposed by J. W. Holloway, of Sterlington, stepfather of the four Valentine children for nine years, who filed the kidnaping charge against the father.

When Valentine's wife, Hattie, obtained a divorce from him in West Carroll district court ten years ago, she was awarded custody of the children. Her death last February left them without a lawful guardian, the district attorney said. Holloway never had sought to have himself so appointed by a court nor had he ever legally adopted them.

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Mr. Joseph Stalin,
Kremlin,
Moscow, U. S. S. R.
Dear Uncle Joe;

Your communique of May 1st was handed me by Operator K-9, Park Avenue branch. Noted contents and swallowed same.

I don't blame you for being put out about the failure of our last membership drive. But before you give me the Browder treatment, let me explain what's fouling us up.

Billy Rose

There's a fellow here in America giving us a lot of trouble.

His name is Horatio Alger.

His "Rags to Riches" routine is a bigger menace to our Cause than Churchill, Marshall or the Sears, Roebuck catalogue. Inspired by his success stories, thousands of potential pinks aren't even giving us ear-time, let alone a few rubles to make up the deficit of the Daily Worker.

Let me tell you about Alger's red-baiting propaganda. Years ago, he wrote that a bright fellow with a little luck and a lot of work could make a pretty good living in this country. His bourgeois fairy tales concern themselves with free enterprise and the good life. These poison pamphlets were circulated by the millions and have even been allowed to corrupt the minds of school children. This happy hack has cost us more members than Walter Winchell or Brooks Atkinson. For years, he's had us Comrades sweating borscht.

Let me give you an example of his insidious influence on the American peasant.

In 1926 a moujik named J. E. Webb settled down in St. Petersburg, a Florida town of 90,000. Hopped up by the capitalistic mumbo-jumbo of Horatio Alger, he decided to go into business for himself.

He opened a little drug store, so small he couldn't mix a prescription without knocking over the horehound drops. It was located "across the tracks" where both white and colored folks could come to buy.

Last year this drug store grossed over $9 million, approximately a hundred dollars for every person in St. Petersburg. (You'll notice the town still uses the czarist name, and hasn't had the decency to change it to Leningrad). This crypto-capitalist has followed the outmoded policy of selling goods for less than the next fellow. In this underhanded way he has expanded his medicine chest to where it now covers several acres, has 38 departments, and exploits a thousand workers.

This "Doc" Webb calls his place "The World's Most Unusual Drug Store." He sells undershirts, refrigerators, Brussels sprouts, turpentine, hospital supplies, electric toasters and tennis rackets. He feeds thousands in an air-cooled cafeteria, runs a beauty salon with 30 operators, conducts a travel agency and dry cleaning service, sells women's and children's garments, millinery, furniture, and other goodies now not on sale in Moscow. He even continues to sell drugs.

Every time we mimeograph a new release about the collapse of free enterprise, Webb opens a new department. What's more, he has the effrontery to quarrel with the ukases of the state. When Florida officials told him he couldn't sell haircuts for 45 cents—other shops were getting a dollar—"Doc" Webb told them to jump in Lake Okeechobee. His lawyers then proceeded to knock the price-fixing decree right out of the books.

Ditto with liquor. Can't cut prices, said the state. Can, said "Doc." And did. It is reported that even members of our St. Petersburg cell have been seen sneaking into "Doc's" for cut-rate vodka.

Every time we tell the workers they're being ground into dust, this monopolistic medicine man sabotages us. Currently he's giving his barbers 70 per cent of the take and letting them average $100 a week. We holler private initiative glorifies dishonesty. Webb cashes checks for anybody who can write and loses less than $100 a year on bad ones. No good for our side, Comrade.

This year—in a town half as big as Irkutsk—Webb's drug store figures to gross twelve million of those filthy, wonderful American dollars. Naturally, our figures on the production of steel ingots and blintzes don't impress people when they hear "Doc" Webb sold 10 tons of onions in 11 hours, 3,000 shirts from [illegible] to 5, and 10,000 doughnuts in a day.

If this little moujik continues to make more money than a Hungarian printing press, it's going to be tough for us to sign up new members. Webb's machinations go even further. Working hand-in-hand with the duPonts and Rockefellers, he drugs the minds of the young. He sells 7,000 double-dip ice cream cones to kids every day.

And that's our problem, Uncle Joe. Inspired by Horatio Alger and the example of "Doc" Webb, thousands of young men are taking your picture down, and hanging "Do It Now" signs on the wall.

Recently some of our old-line members have been missing meetings. Yesterday we lost two of our best mimeograph operators. We tailed them and found out why.

They were out looking for vacant stores.

By the way, what's happened to Maxim Litvinoff? We haven't heard from him lately.

Long live the revolution!
Billy Rose.

BARROOMS OF PARISH TO CLOSE WEDNESDAY

Bartenders and other employes of taverns in the Twin Cities and all of Ouachita parish will have a holiday next Tuesday.

The Monroe and West Monroe police departments and the sheriff's office yesterday called attention to the state law prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages on election days.

The city and parish vote Tuesday on the renewal of millage taxes for the two school systems.

GIVES HOOVER'S OLD STATEMENT

Quoted As Saying 28 Years Ago U S. Can't Always Feed Europe

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—A 28-year-old statement by Herbert Hoover that the Western Hemisphere could not meet Europe's economic needs indefinitely was published tonight by the state department in the latest of a series of historical documents.

Hoover, then relief director, gave his estimate of the European economic situation in the wake of World War I in a report to the supreme economic council of the Allied and associated powers.

"During some short period, it may be possible for the Western Hemisphere, which has retained and even increased its productivity, to supply the deficiencies of Europe," Hoover advised on July 3, 1919.

"Such deficiencies would have to be supplied in large degree upon credits; but, aside from this, the entire surplus productivity of the Western Hemisphere is totally incapable of meeting the present deficiency in European production if it is long continued.

"Nor, as a practical fact, could credits be mobilized for this purpose for more than a short period, because all credits must necessarily be simply an advance against the return of commodities in exchange, and credits will break down the instant that the return of commodities becomes improbable.

"Further, if such credits be obtained in more than temporary purposes, it would result in economic slavery of Europe to the Western Hemisphere, and the ultimate end would be war again.

"The solution, therefore, of the problem, except in purely temporary aspects, does not lie in a stream of commodities on credit from the Western Hemisphere, but lies in a vigorous realization of the actual situation in each country of Europe and a resolute statesmanship based on such a realization.

"The populations of Europe must be brought to a realization that productivity must be instantly increased."

Hoover said further that "whatever the economic theory or political cry, it must embrace the maximum individual effort, for there is no margin of surplus productivity in Europe to risk revolutionary experimentation."

"No economic policy will bring food to those stomachs or fuel to those hearths that does not secure the maximum production." he added.

Hoover's report was contained in a volume on foreign relations of the United States covering the 1919 Paris Peace conference.

TWO ACCUSED MEN WILL BE RETURNED

NEW IBERIA, La., May 10.—(AP)—Louisiana officers left today for Twin Falls, Idaho, to obtain custody of two brothers held there in connection with a series of robberies in South Louisiana, in which thousands of dollars of loot was obtained.

Police Chief Andrew J. Viator of New Iberia, one of the officers, said the brothers, Paul Louviere, 24, and Joseph Louviere, 25, are charged with burglary, along with two other men held in jail here.

The others are Curtis Freeman, 21, of New Iberia and Cecil Van Davis, 20. The latter was arrested in Houston, Texas, and brought here.

Accompanying Viator on the western trip are Sheriff Gilbert Ozenne of Iberia parish, Capt. K. H. Wright of the state police and Sheriff Broussard of Vermilion parish.

The officers said the quartet had been implicated in more than a dozen robberies and safe-crackings in several cities during last March and April.

Among the robberies were listed the following:

The Casino Billard Parlor at New Iberia, robbed of $1,000 in money and other valuables on April 10; Whitney Motors at Kaplan, $5,000; and Abbeville Garage which lost $380; the Vermilion Cooperative Creamery, $290; A Welsh Grocery which was robbed of $2,000 on March 31; Capitol Grocery at Lafayette, $750 on April 6; Buccaneer Club at St. Martinville, which lost 5 or 6 cases of whiskey and $500 in money; and several stores at Sulphur La.

BOATS CRUISE IN WEST TEXAS CITY

ODESSA, Tex., May 10.—(AP)—Small boats cruised the commercial area of this West Texas city today as torrential rains, already totlaling five inches, continued.

Many sections of Odessa were flooded. Water was a foot deep around tourist courts and garages on the east side. A downtown store had an inch of water over the floor, but business continued.

Firemen were standing by for rescue calls but at noon none had been received.

It was the heaviest rainfall since last July 3, when rescue squads took families from homes in the badly-drained southside section.

It was believed the south side area would be completely inundated.

The downpour started last night. Rains were general today over west Texas, the south plains and the entire Panhandle.

ways in the state, and complete all farm-to-market roads and all school bus and mail routes, and to enlarge the state drainage program.

4. Proposes to reorganize the highway commission, creating a commission of nine members, one from each congressional district and a chairman of the commission. Each member will be responsible to the people of his district for the proper maintenance of roads and required to see that his district receives its share of the highway funds.

5. Proposes to fence all rights-of-way of hard-surfaced roads where livestock is permitted to roam at large.

6. Favors a $50 per month old age pension, payable to all quilified citizens who have reached the age of sixty years, or to those who are mentally or physically disabled regardless of age.

7. Realizes that the whole program of public education needs to be revised and strengthened. Proposes to pay teachers a minimum salary of $2,400 a year.

8. Proposes to pay school bus drivers a real living wage on a full 12-month basis, and to clarify and strengthen the retirement program for school bus drivers.

9. Proposes a natural gas policy that will be fair to the interests of all parties—land royalty owners, small producers and the independent companies. Is opposed to any action by the state that would prevent the increased production and sale of gas.

10. Proposes a more scientific and expanded reforestation and timber-growing policy.

11.—Proposes to develop the trapping and fishing industries to the fullest extent, and will put an end to all of the unnecessary technicalities and red tape which have hampered trappers and fishermen in the past.

12. Proposes to establsih a trade in every parish, so that any youth of Louisiana may learn a skilled trade.

13. Advocates the calling of a constitutional convention for the elimination of all the defects which our hodge-podge system of fundamental law is now afflicted.

14. Proposes to improve the state banking system, and promises that under his administration no officer or director of a state bank will be permitted to gamble with the money of depositors.

15. Proposes a thorough and unprejudiced inquiry into all of the activities of the Port of New Orleans.

16. Proposes scientific operation of the institutions housing the unfortunate insane and feeble-minded. Proposes to triple the capacity of the feeble-minded institutions, and to provide proper housing and medical care for the insane.

17. Proposes humane and honest operation of the state's penal institutions, realizing that first offenders and youthful criminals should be helped in every way possible to make them good citizens. The staffs of these institutions should consist of trained men and women who have shown a special interest in this important work.

Mr. Long concluded his formal announcement with the declaration that the only thing he expects to carry out of the governor's office is a good name and the satisfaction of knowing that good people in all walks of life will say that he was fair, honest and sincere in the administration of the state government.

MOTORIST RUNS GIRL DOWN, TRIES ATTACK

OMAHA, May 10.—(AP)—Marjorie Swanson, 20, told from her hospital bed today how a motorist turned his car suddenly from the wrong side of the street, ran her and her mother down as they walked along a sidewalk, and then dragged her to some bushes where he beat and tried to attack her.

The man, for whom an intensive police search began soon after the incident about midnight last night, fled when men searching for her approached the bushes, Miss Swanson said.

"Mother and I saw the car coming but we thought it was just going to go by," Miss Swanson related. "Suddenly it came over on the wrong side of the street, turned up on a little driveway and hit us both at the same time.

"I don't remember anything then until this man was dragging me in the yard of the state school for the deaf. He hit me very hard in the face with his fist, at least twice, and kicked me while I was lying on the ground. He threw his jacket over my head. He said 'I'll kill you if you look at me."

Her mother, only person at the scene when police arrived, suffered bruises and shock, and Miss Swanson suffered face and body bruises. When police arrived Mrs. Swanson cried several times: "That man has taken my daughter."

TRAVELERS ELECT

NEW IBERIA, La., May 10.—(AP)—Sidney De Bellevue of New Iberia, was elected president of the Louisiana Travelers Protective Association here today at the conclusion of the two-day convention. He succeeds E. B. Pintado of Lake Charles.

The city of Marseilles established a 40-day quarantine for incoming visitors for health reasons.

SEE HEAVY SLASH IN FARM BUDGET

Cut Of 33 1/3 Per Cent For Agricultural Department Likely

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—A cut of at least 33 1/3 per cent in the Agricultural department budget was reported in the making today in the House Appropriations committee.

And committee members from farm states who reported the prospective slash said they will make no all-out fight in the House to restore the funds in which they are interested, relying instead upon the Senate to do so.

President Truman's budget calls for approximately $944,000,000 for the Agriculture department for the fiscal year starting July 1. The Appropriations committee is reported set to chop this by $315,000,000 or more. Most of the expected cut would be in benefit payments.

"We are not going to do anything about it in the House because the cards are stacked against us there," one committee member of the farm group told reporters. "We will center our fire in the Senate and we have reason to believe many of the reductions will be restored there and retained in a later conference."

The same strategy is expected to be followed by advocates of larger appropriations for the State, Commerce and Justice departments. The omnibus supply bill for these departments comes up in the House on Tuesday.

Western Congressmen and others already are seeking Senate restoration of huge cuts in Interior department funds voted by the House. Earl Warren, Republican Governor of California, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee today that "we are confronted with what we consider to be a crisis" by a slash in funds for reclamation projects.

The House voted a cut of $134,600,000 in the Interior department's $295,000,000 budget. It lopped almost $295,000,000 of the $13,285,000,000 budget for the Treasury and Post Office departments, and whacked $79,000,000 from the $1,763,000,000 Labor department-Federal Security agency budget.

With approximately 43 per cent of the President's overall $37,500,000,000 budget already handled, the House committee has trimmed an estimated $1,200,000,000 in its promised campaign to save $6,000,000,000. Democrats contend, however, that $800,000,000 of the total reduction to date is "phony" since it represents a cut in allotments for paying tax refunds over which Congress has no control.

DEATHS

W. F. JONES

Funeral services for W. F. Jones, 78, of near Downsville, were held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Bethel Methodist Church in Downsville.

Jones died Friday morning after a long illness. He will be buried in the Mt. Neabo Cemetery, near Downsville.

ANOTHER PERMIT ASKED IN UNION

Shreveport Firm Would Drill Near Shell Test; Weekly District Report

Another application for a permit to drill for oil near the Shell's Frost Lumber Co. No. 2 core test north of Farmerville was on file at the Monroe district conservation office Saturday.

The new location was made by J. I. Roberts and R. O. Smith of Shreveport on a 20-acre unit owned by the Farmerville Mercantile Company in section 23-22N-1W. It is a mile southwest of the Shell well and a half-mile southwest of the point where Robert T. Sellars and Associates began drilling the Monziingo-Rivers Lumber Co. No. last Thursday night.

Included in the five completions contained in the weekly report of the district conservation office were three gas wells brought in by the United Carbon Co. in Union parish. They were the Frost John No. C-17 in section 16-21-3E, which was gauged at 172,000 cubic feet per day, and the J. & H. Union Power Nos. C-18 and C-19, tested at 243,000 and 1,475,000 cubic feet per day respectively. The two latter are in section 20-21-3E. The other two completions in the report were oil wells, the R. T. Sellars Company's Johnnie Walker No. 1 in the Big Creek field, previously published, and the Sohio Petroleum Company's Ayer Timber Co. No. 2 in section 26-1-9E in Franklin parish. The latter, which had a total depth of 7,065 feet, was perforated at 6,608 feet, and was gaged at 1,008,000 cubic feet of gas and 67 barrels of distillate per day.

The Shell Company continued to plug core tests and announce the wells as abondoned in north Union parish. So listed in the weekly report is the Frost Lumber Co. No. 4 in section 11-21-3E, near Marion, which had reached a depth of 3,280 feet. The other abandonment in the report was Burden & Kemp Company's Lord No. 1 in section 18-16-8E in Franklin parish's South Big Creek field. Its depth was 3,310 feet.

BUYERS' STRIKE ON NEW HOMES FEARED

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—(AP)—Fear of a nation-wide buyers' strike on new homes was expressed here today by officials of the Federal Housing Authority in conference with the board of directors of the Southern Pine Association.

Speaking before the closing session, Robert E. Johnson, Washington, D. C. deputy FHA expediter, said the nation faces "a construction stagnation similar to the era following World War I."

Johnson said rise in construction cost and shortage of building materials were causing the strike movement which at present has "all the evidence for a repeat of the 1919 stagnation period."

The deputy expediter arrived in New Orleans to address the association officials in the final business meeting. He was accompanied by Donald Henry, special FHA assistant, and Stanley Ferguson, director of the forest products branch of FHA.

Frank Creedon, national expediter, was scheduled to address the group but was detained in Washington for a conference with President Truman.

The housing officials are on a nation-wide inspection tour to explain the president's price reduction policy to lumbermen, contractors and building associations.

Earlier last week they discussed possibility of reducing lumber costs and other problems of the industry in Tacoma, Portland and Seattle.

The Southern Pine group adjourned the four-day meeting after approving a $500,000 fund for promoting "good will" in the lumber industry.

ANY CURB OPPOSED BY MARINE CORPS

Telegrams voicing opposition to any limitation of the present functions of the Marine Corps in the armed forces merger plan now before congress have been dispatched to Senators John H. Overton and Allen Ellender and Congressman Otto E. Passman by the Northeast Louisiana Detachment of the Marine Corps League.

The detachment voted to dispatch the telegrams at its regular meeting this week. The warmly worded wires said the detachment joined "former Marines throughout the nation in vehemently opposing any emasculation of the Marine Corps" in the merger plans. An organization that had served so valoriously in two world wars deserved to be retained intact, the telegrams maintained.

Besides ordering the telegrams dispatched, the detachment named a committee of two, Jim Field and John Cannon, to make plans for Marine memorial Sunday June 1. The memory of the war dead of the corps will be honored that Sunday with special church services throughout the nation.

Eugene Antley reported that the special committee consisting of him and Saul Adler would have a public event arranged within a few days for May 30 in connection with the awarding of the automobile to be given away at the conclusion of the detachment's building and rehabilitation fund campaign. He said the car would be awarded either at a street dance or a wrestling match.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT
Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress
Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.
Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.
To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.
Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

yes, it's Plymouth for Value
WHEN you figure the facts, you realize how far Plymouth leads the low-priced field in the number of high-priced car features. The score — 20 to 9 to 8 — isn't even close!
But Plymouth's greater value doesn't stop here. Plymouth has exclusive features that even many high-priced cars don't have.
Take, for example, Safety-Rim Wheels which give unequaled protection in case of tire failure.
Or, for another example, light-touch Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes with 32% more braking efficiency.
Add all of Plymouth's basic engineering advances to Plymouth's beauty and smooth, unruffled ride and there's only one answer — if it's value you want, it's Plymouth you want!

SOCIETY

EDITOR

May Day was observed in traditional manner at Neville High School this year with children from every city school dancing around gayly-colored Maypoles and a beautiful queen, Miss Esther Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ewing, reigning with grace and charm over her "subjects." She is seen in the center of the page with her two train-bearers, Charles Chisholm Chatham and Dickie Wright. The girls who danced before the throne are seen to the left and to the right. They are Frances Black and Katherine Guerriero, Joyce Hazel and Jo Ann McDonald. In the group are the four maids, Patsy Batten and Barbara Barker, standing, and Beverly Martin and Lydia Jarman, seated.

D. Curtis Seamon Home Is The Scene Of Impressive Wedding Ceremony

Miss Seamon Weds F. P. Johnson, Jr.

Interest Of Friends Is Centered In The Seamon-Johnson Nuptial Event

All the traditions and all the sentimentalities were observed by Miss Betty Lou Seamon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Curtis Seamon, when she walked to the improvised altar in the home of her parents, May 3, to become the bride of Mr. Fred Pell Johnson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Johnson. For something old she wore her grandmother's pendant of tourmalines and pearls. She also wore the bridegroom's gift, a beautiful platinum, diamond studded wrist watch.

The lower floor of the Seamon home was ensuite for the wedding and radiant with candlelight. Urns overflowing with long stemmed pink roses were placed in the background with myriad pale pink tapers flaming high in floor candelabra of graduated lengths, placed at vantage points.

Graceful white columns linked together, with ropes of white satin formed an aisle leading from the stairway to the improvised altar at one end of the reception suite. The altar was reared beneath an arch entwined with English ivy.

Mrs. Charles Bennett, pianist, rendered a short concert while the guests were arriving. She accompanied the soloist. Mrs. B. A. Trousdale, Jr., who sang in beautiful voice, "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Mrs. Allen Buie Jr., the matron of honor, wore a beautiful poudre blue model with becoming hat of blue tulle and roses. She carried an arm bouquet of Souvenir roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Allen Buie, Jr., and his groomsmen were the bride's twin uncles, Messrs. W. T. McCann and Miller T. McCann of Paducah, Ky.

Dr. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends.

The stairway, down which the bride walked, was entwined with English ivy and at the base was placed a tall white urn filled with pink Radiance roses and woodwardia fern. The bride was met at the foot of the stairs by her father who gave her in marriage.

The bride wore a distinctive Carolyn model of pearl gray faille. It was fashioned with a long torso and bustle style back. Her hat was made of pink roses and her long gloves were of pink suede. All accessories were of gray. She carried an ivory prayer book surmounted with a spray of sweetheart roses and lillies-of-the-valley tied with long lengths of narrow white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Seamon graciously welcomed the guests in a lovely azure blue model with corsages of Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Johnson, the bridegroom's mother, wore a pastel blue model with corsage of split carnations.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. William T. McCann of Paducah, Kentucky, who arrived in the city several weeks ago and was in attendance at the many prenuptial courtesies extended the bride-elect, also assisted in receiving. She wore a beautiful Arthur Weiss model of gray with all accessories of gray and a corsage of pink carnations.

Guests who attended the wedding and others who arrived later for the reception were served individual wedding cakes and iced frappe.

The bride's table in the dining room not only reflected a bridal theme but the merry month of May. At one end of the lace covered table, dolls in diaphanous summer gowns revolved around a May pole entwined with pink ribbons.

The three-tiered wedding cake, beautifully embossed, was cut by the bride and groom before they departed on their honeymoon. The bride traveled in a handsome tailleur of white and brown stripe. She wore brown lizard skin slippers and carried a brown lizard skin bag. Her hat, of natural bacua was also of brown. A corsage of orchids added a note of distinction.

Following a honeymoon in New Orleans and the gulf coast Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home to their friends at 301 Rochelle avenue.

The bride, a lovely member of the younger set, is a graduate of the Neville High School and attended Northeast Junior College. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma sorority. For the past several years she has been associated with the United Gas Company in this city.

Mr. Johnson is a graduate of the Searcy, Ark., High School, and attended the University of Arkansas. He spent 24 months in the South Pacific with the engineering division. He is now associated with the United Gas Company in this city.

Mrs. Cummings Is Leader Of World Fellowship Program

One of the most interesting days during Y-Week was the World Fellowship and Membership program.

Mrs. Gordon Cummings, World Fellowship Chairman, had charge of the morning program and led an interesting discussion on the activities of the Y. W. C. A., in various parts of the country. The part this organization is playing in post war fellowship and understanding was emphasized. Carrying out this same theme was the clever skit put on by a number of the Y-Teen girls.

Following this, the picture "This Is Our Story" was shown and the members especially enjoyed the explanatory remarks read by Miss Dixie Madden throughout the showing of the picture. This picture portrays the many activities of the Y. W. C. A., and it was interesting to note that nearly all of the services are available in the Monroe organization for girls and women of this community.

The meeting was then adjourned for lunch which was served by Mrs. Mike John, Jr., and her committee.

After luncheon a membership meeting was led by Miss Leontine Butler of Little Rock.

Several new membership cards were signed and it is hoped that many more women of the twin cities will volunteer their services in this worthwhile service.

FOUR GENERATIONS

Mrs. George Edward Oskorian, to the right, and son, George Edwin the second, came from her home in Providence, R. I., to be with her mother, Mrs. Rufus Goza, to the left, and her grandmother, Mrs. A. S. Keller on Mother's Day. Mrs. Oskorian is the former Miss Georgia Bell Goza.

PAST PRESIDENTS OF Y. W. C. A. MEET FOR HOUR OF PLEASANT REMINISCING AT THE NEW "Y"

The Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A., had as their guests all past presidents of the Y at their recent board meeting and it was a unique and interesting hour when the history of the Monroe Y was unfolded as each past president related outstanding events that occurred during her term of office.

Mrs. E. W. Sartain, president of the Y this year, presided and welcomed the guests in characteristic cordial manner. Mrs. Sartain stated that she felt a close union with these women in that during her term of office she had experienced the same hopes and dreams for the organization that they no doubt had had and that each had contributed materially to the growth and success of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Nona Martin gave a timely devotional with the subject "Being Submissive to God's Will."

Mrs. Fagan Cox, who was a charter member of the Y was the first guest to tell of her term of office. Mrs. Cox was the second president of the Y. W. C. A., and she told of the beginning of the organization started through the efforts of a group of civic and church minded women in Monroe. She told of the many hardships experienced by the group in getting organized and located and closed her remarks by saying that the most outstanding accomplishment during her term was the fact that the Y was able to function and grow at all during those infant months.

Mrs. E. C. Gibson, president during the term of 1946-47, stated that this was the time of the move to 904 Jackson street which residence was occupied by the Y for many years.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam thought the most outstanding accomplishment during her term was the organization of the Girl Reserves to hold their meetings in the Y residence.

Mrs. J. R. White was president at the beginning of the war and with the Y thrown open as a recreational center, there was much work to be done and she recalled most vividly the many cookies and punch served to service men. It was also at this time that the YoWoCa Club was organized.

Mrs. Henry Whitfield, who served the organization as president for three years, also had much experience in war and U. S. O. work. During her last year the Y acquired their new and permanent home which they now occupy at 1515 Jackson street and it was unnecessary for Mrs. Whitfield to tell of the tremendous amount of work she did in this endeavor.

After the meeting, the board members and guests discussed plans for the future and reminisced of events past as they sat around the luncheon table.

Book Reviewed By Mrs. Barton At Club Meeting

The regular meeting of The Current Literature Club was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Knapp, 3811 Spurgeon Drive.

An entertaining book review on "Mr. Bremble's Buttons", was given by Mrs. Jordan Barton. This novel, written by Dorothy Langley, is the amusing story of Henry Bremble who is a gentle person—not an intellectual, not unconventional, but lonely all the same.

Living in Suburbia with his wife, Amelia, his mother-in-law, and an extremely unattractive poodle, Mr. Bremble drove to work in a nervous convertible coupe which his wife had bought him because she said, "All men like to drive." She had many other pet phrases with which she was equally pleased; "Children owe something to their parents" . . "A gentleman can always be judged by his nails" . . . "Women who ape men are deliberately wrecking society" . . . "A penny saved is a penny earned."

Amelia Bremble was a large, solid woman who, already at the age of thirty-seven, displayed an alarming resemblance to her mother. And Mr. Bremble's mother-in-law reminded him inescapably of a parakeet—not a parakeet on the hoof, so to speak, but a parakeet already done up and finished by an incompetent taxidermist. Amelia, like her mother, was a born committeewoman. She organized drives, headed crusades, concerned herself endlessly with humanity.

Mr. Bremble very understandingly retired from all this to a secret collection of buttons, crossword puzzles, and the making of words out of words. If they had ever had a child, he sometimes thought witfully, it might have been otherwise. But it was impossible to imagine Amelia with a child.

This, then, is the story of Mr. Bremble's flight from a particular combination of realities with which it would be callous to ask any man to come to grips. For Mr. Bremble, happily, the mind's alienation takes a sweet course. He sails through several impertinent and flambuoyant interviews with a psychoanalyst to a gradually expanding, unfamiliar gaity that culminates in a hilarity of behavior in which he abandons all compromise with the Reality Principle.

They don't come and take Mr. Bremble away and lock him up, although perhaps they would have gotten around to that. He escapes triumphant, if somewhat tired out, through the only exit that was ever really available to him.

During the social hour, delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Jordan Barton, Mrs. W. A. Cotton, Mrs. G. B. Demmary, Mrs. Dan Dennett, Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich, Mrs. Walter Knapp, Mrs. H. C. Menuet, Mrs. EE. A. Porter, Jr., Mrs. J. W. Reeves, Mrs. R. F. Seiler, Mrs. Earl Stovall, Mrs. W O. Webb, Mrs. L. A. West, Mrs. W. A. Whitfield, Mrs. J. V. Whitledge, Mrs. L. M. Frey.

DINNER IN EMPIRE ROOM HONORS PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Dinner in the beautiful Empire room at the Rainbow Inn brought together a prominent group of physicians and their distinguished guest of honor, Dr. Harrison Shoulders of Nashville, Tenn., president of the American Medical Society, who attended a meeting of the Louisiana Medical Society in this city last week.

The dinner, quite informal, permitted those present to relax and to enjoy the beautiful surroundings. The mirrors with deep gold scrollwork frames placed on a background of black studded with gold, reflected the beautifully appointed, flower adorned tables and the rose colored dome where indirect lighting created a soft radiance.

A delicious steak dinner was faultlessly served to Dr. Shoulders, Dr. Scott Hamilton, Dr. George Snellings, Dr. H. V. Collins, Dr. M. Hunter, Dr. A. G. McHenry, Dr. J. W. Cummins, Dr. J. Q. Graves, Dr. G. Gallaspi, Dr. R. T. Armstrong, Dr. Henson Coon, Dr. C. B. Flinn, Dr. C. P. Gray, Jr., Dr. C. P. Gray, Sr., Dr. Clifford Johnson, Dr. J. McConnell, Dr. J. E. Walsworth, Dr. C. Summers, Dr. A. L. Peters and others.

YOU'LL BE AS BEWITCHING as a sea nymph in one of those beguiling swimming suits FERD LEVI is showing. This shop, you know, is headquarters for all swimming paraphernalia. I like to call FERD LEVI'S "the shop of surprises." . . . You can pick up scads of things that are hard to find . . . party favors, bridge cards, personalized stationery, "thank-you" note paper and best of all the newest books. There's a complete paper trousseau for the bride . . . engraved invitations, personal note paper, engraved visiting cards.

I SAW A RECENT BRIDE, a friend of mine, don the smartest traveling ensemble I've seen in many a moon. I asked the name of the designer and was told it was FINK THE TAILOR. It was of off-white gabardine with black velvet collar. The skirt was pencil slim. The bride also showed me several pairs of slacks FINK had tailored for her trousseau. She also told me FINK had furnished the bridegroom's trousseau . . . tailored suits, neckties, pajamas and lounging robes. She said, "They are fit for a king."

IF YOU WANT TO keep the kids at home give the HEWITT-DEW MUSIC CO. your order for a combination radio and phonograph and a bunch of records. There's hundreds of records to choose from at this up-to-date music shop where smiling attendants take pleasure in playing them for you. If the record you want isn't on file it will be ordered pronto. The young crowd has simply taken over the HEWITT-DEW MUSIC CO. They sit for hours listening to the records. HEWITT-DEW MUSIC CO. is also headquarters for musical instruments and sheet music.

YOU'LL BE LOVING IT ALWAYS . . . that graduation gift from the R & A JEWELRY SHOP. If it's a diamond ring (the gift supreme) then your happiness will be complete. If it's a wrist watch set with diamonds or a beautiful sterling vanity you will be a fortunate girl indeed. The R & A has been catering to the desires of the high school graduates for years and know just what to show the customer. Be sure and visit the R & A (the home of precious antiques) before you buy that graduation gift.

THE BUSIEST SHOP I have seen in many a moon is the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP. I dropped in at the work room the other day and found the bridal consultant working out the details for one of the season's prominent weddings. She showed me a sketch of the church decorations and the bouquets designed for the bride's attendants. . . . I was simply charmed. The orders for graduation bouquets are now pouring in at the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP. There's a new type of bouquet that's enchanting.

TO REALLY ENJOY THIS business of eating, at which we spend so much of our lives, we need such places as BAKAL'S. The food served at BAKAL'S has a certain, intangible flavor . . . something you can't describe . . . even the lowly hamburger is glorified. If in search of a meal that really satisfies let me recommend BAKAL'S. You will not only enjoy the food but the beautiful surroundings. . . . The walls are tinted French blue and pink. Crystal chandeliers shed a rosy radiance. The service is impeccable. When you want to offer a guest something very special, engage a table at BAKAL'S.

HUSBANDS CAN'T resist the urge to play host at a barbecue these warm spring nights. To make the barbecue a success the CITY BAKERY supplies those big, delicious buns to be served with the barbecued hamburger. THE CITY BAKERY also supplies the sweets . . . raised doughnuts, fudge squares and layer cakes. If you are just serving sandwiches insist on MEL-O-TOAST bread . . . it keeps fresh longer than any other bread and whets the appetite.

WIVES ARE FREE to really enjoy life since the LA CASA TEA ROOM came into being. They no longer toil over a hot kitchen stove . . . they just make a date with the hostesses at the LA CASA. Guests are always delighted with the festive atmosphere and the easy informality that exists at the LA CASA. . . . Best of all, of course, is the delicious home-cooked food. Unless you have tasted those home-made rolls, that baked ham and southern fried chicken, your life has been incomplete.

MARRIAGE OF MISS RODGERS AND MR. JACK EDWIN DU BOIS IS EVENT OF PROMINENCE

A beautiful wedding ceremony, claiming the interest of a wide circle of friends, was solemnized in the First Methodist Church, Bastrop, La., Saturday evening at half past seven when Miss Carolyn Rodgers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wirt Adams Rodgers, became the bride of Mr. Jack Edwin Du Bois of Washington, D. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Louis Du Bois of Lawrenceville, Ill. The Rev. Jolly B. Harper officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Artistic arrangements of southern smilax, bridal wreath and white gladioli formed the decorative background. Cathedral tapers burned in tall floor candelabra of graduated lengths.

Guests were ushered to their seats by Martin Rodgers, brother of the bride, George W. Hiatt, Richard Davis and William Harp. Mrs. J. B. Spier, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mr. Emory Rose of Greenville, Miss., who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The candles were lighted by Martin Rodgers and George W. Hiatt while "Ave Maria" was softly played on the organ. The traditional wedding marches marked the beginning and end of the ceremony. The strains of "Clair de Lune" echoed softly during the exchange of vows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely wedding gown of white Duchess satin, fashioned with a tight fitting bodice and sweetheart neckline. The sleeves were long and ended in a point over the hands. She wore a full length veil of illusion which was fastened to the head with a duchess cap of white satin encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids, carnations and stephanotis tied with wide satin ribbons. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. For something old she carried a white lace handkerchief that belonged to her mother.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Sanders, Fulton, Mo., wore a blue mousseline de soile model over blue taffeta, designed with a tight bodice featuring an off-shoulder effect, and with a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations tied with rainbow ribbons.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Vertis Brabre of Carmi, Ill., sister of the bridegroom, and Major Madge Williams of Washington, D. C. They wore pink dresses fashioned similar to that of the maid of honor and carried identical bouquets. All three wore chaplets of pink flowers.

Mr. Du Bois was attended by Mr. Wirt Adams Rodgers, Jr., brother of the bride.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Rodgers, wore a dinner gown of aqua crepe, with an orchid corsage and silver accessories. Mrs. Du Bois, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pale blue chiffon dinner gown and a corsage of orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Morehouse Country Club. Pedestal baskets holding a profusion of spring flowers adorned the lounge where Dr. and Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Du Bois and members of the wedding party received guests. The table was overlaid with a cutwork embroidered cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted with miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was placed on a round reflector and encircled with tulle and pink carnations. White candles gleamed in silver candelabra at either end of the table. Presiding over the crystal punch bowls were aunts of the bride, Mrs. William T. Carpenter of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Mrs. Robert Arthur of New Orleans, and Mrs. John E. Baugus of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Ray Day, Miss Joanne Willis, Miss Shirley Campbell and Miss Nell Gentry passed trays of confections. Mrs. J. J. Turpin was in charge of the bride's book.

Following a honeymoon in New Orleans the young couple will leave for Washington, D. C., where they are both employed by the government.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School, an alumnus of Centenary College, Shreveport, La., and a graduate of the Chillicothe Business School, Chillicothe, Mo.

Mr. Du Bois attended East Illinois State Teachers College, Georgetown University and Yale, and served three years with the armed forces, spending 18 months overseas in the European theater with the 76th infantry division.

Miss Mason Is Honor Guest At Informal Affair

Among the many prenuptial courtesies honoring Miss Margaret Mason whose marriage will be an interesting event of May 18, was the conversational hour in the home of Mrs. K. D. Hayes with Mrs. M. C. White and Mrs. Dennis, co-hostesses.

Miss Mason, the central figure in this group of friends, wore a yellow crepe model with a corsage of Talisman roses presented by her hostesses. She also received from her hostesses a gift of sterling silver.

Several games of bridal significance, were introduced for diversion during the evening. The prizes were won by Mrs. R. O. Ware and Mrs. M. L. Padgett.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Miss Mason, Mrs. P. C. Mason, Mrs. J. G. Rickerson, Mrs. C. R. Coates, Mrs. Jesse Heard, Mrs. Ray Buce, Mrs. Hardie Heard, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Mrs. L. J. Hulin, Mrs. M. W. Montgomery, Mrs. R. L. White, Mrs. L. C. Leake, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Mrs. F. W. Bayles, Mrs. Buford Brazzil, Mrs. S. W. Raby, Mrs. W. H. Williamson, Mrs. M. L. Padgett, Mrs. Noble Mitchell, Miss Myrtle Campbell, Miss Nell McCormick, Miss Martha Nell Chappell, and Miss Sally Ann Hayes.

Club Women In Attendance At State Convention

Miss Maible Hood, president of the local Business and Professional Women's Club headed the delegation from this city attending the convention of the Louisiana Federation in Alexandria this week-end.

The meeting was presided over by the state president, Mrs. Gladys Miles, of this city, who left last Friday for Alexandria to attend the board meeting. She was accompanied by Mrs. Laura Slator, member of the local club, who will assist in conducting the three workshops.

The theme of the convention is "The Future Starts Today." Judge Anna Veters Levy, of the New Orleans juvenile court was the featured speaker on Saturday.

Mayor Carl Close, of Alexandria, made the welcoming address.

Miss Florence Cartwright, of Shawnee, Okla., recording secretary of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was the principal speaker at the banquet Saturday night at Hotel Bentley.

The newly-elected officers will be installed at a breakfast this morning with Miss Cartwright presiding. A final business session and post-convention board meeting will follow.

Members of the Fine Arts club are planning an exceptionally brilliant program of music for the meeting Monday night at the Daddy Flower Memorial chapel at the Baptist Children's Home. All members are urged to be present.

Purely Personal

We are on the move again. We have thrown off the shackles of winter and are now listening eagerly to the call of vacation days. In a few weeks the tide of travel will be booming but many have already left for vacations in far away places. Horizons have grown wider this year and a flight across the broad Atlantic seems to be planned by several vacationists in this city. Dr. and Mrs. George Wright are among the restless ones who couldn't wait until summer for a vacation so they are now bound for Guatamala City, via clipper from New Orleans. They are anticipating their stay at the new Hotel Victoria, part of a chain under Swiss management with Swiss chefs. Although there are many interesting things to do and see in Guatamala Dr. and Mrs. Wright think possibly they will also visit Nicaragua.

Back home for a visit from Mexico City comes Mrs. Earl Chumey and her two handsome young sons, Earl, Jr., and Thomas King. Mrs. Chumey the former Miss India Stubbs is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Stubbs on Riverside and enjoying the early summer season to the fullest. Mrs. Chumey loves this particular time of the year in Louisiana and always arrives every year about this time for her annual visit.

White Columns," beautiful country home formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McDonald will be occupied again. Children will once again play in the gardens stretching almost as far as eye can reach and lights will once again stream through the tall white columns. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brown and three lovely children, formerly of Orange, Texas, will take up residence at "White Columns" within the next few days and Monroe society is extending them a cordial welcome.

Mrs. Elmer Slagle and daughter, Miss Lee Slagle will leave on Wednesday for Washington, D. C., to attend the first Continental Congress of the D. A. R. since before the war. Mrs. Slagle will be a delegate from Fort Miro chapter, D. A. R. and Miss Slagle will serve as a page to the president general. They will be the guests while in Washington of Mrs. Kate O'Neil, formerly of this city. They also plan to visit the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and to visit friends in Virginia.

It was nice to see Mr. Charles Hazen, editor of The Shreveport Times, circulating around among his friends in this city during the Louisiana Press Association convention. He was editor of the Monroe News-Star twenty years ago and was a great favorite here. His children are now grown. His daughter is attending L. S. U. and his son is an Ensign in the U. S. Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Coon are spending this week-end in New Orleans and incidentally attending Metropolitan Grand Opera. They will have the pleasure of witnessing the opera "Lucia."

Several members of the Louisiana Bar Association of this city, accompanied by their wives attended the convention in Alexandria. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. James Trousdale, Mrs. Henry, Mr. B. Henry Bernstein, Jr., Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Sr., and Mrs. Ruby Roberts.

Mrs. J. C. Theus is anticipating the arrival of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Cook and daughter of Atlanta, Ga., for an extended visit.

Mrs. Judson Smith is visiting relatives in Homer, La.

Captain and Mrs. Ted Mahr, Jr., of Tampa, Fla., announce the arrival of their second child, a son, Terrence Douglas, May 7. The Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Nell Kendricks of Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Benton Holt has returned from Winnfield, La., where she made the acquaintance of her new grandson, James Gibson Russell the third, who arrived April 16. Mrs. Russell was formerly Miss Thyra Holt.

Foretelling a wedding of prominence to take place in the late spring is the engagement announcement today of Miss Nancy Jean Wade of Vicksburg, Miss, and Julian Ofell Pilcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pilcher, formerly of Monroe, now of Baton Rouge.

The approaching event has just been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Irwin Wade. Miss Wade is a graduate of Carr Central High School and of Louisiana State University. She received her B. S. Degree from L. S. U. in June, 1946. She was a member of Chi Omega Sorority and was prominent in high school and college activities.

Mr. Pilcher is a graduate of Neville High School of Monroe and in 1942 and 1943 attended Louisiana State University. He entered the Army in 1943 and served in the Philippine war theatre with the rank of First Lieutenant. He was discharged in September 1946 when he re-entered L. S. U. and is now studying Civil Engineering. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

The wedding will take place in Vicksburg, Miss., May 31st.

Waves crashing into the Faeroe Islands once lifted a 40-ton rock to a ledge 160-feet above sea level.

MRS. ROBERT E. SCHOTT

Mrs. Schott, the former Miss Gussie Lasuzzo, left May 4 for San Francisco, Calif., where she boarded a steamer for Hawaii to join Sergeant Schott who is stationed at Hickman Field.

PILOT CLUB MEMBERS MEET IN MIRROR ROOM AT FRANCES HOTEL FOR ANNUAL DINNER

Dinner in the Mirror room of the Frances Hotel was a charming experience for members of the Pilot Club with Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, the gracious and charming toastmistress.

The dinner tables, bathed in mellow candlelight, were banked with yellow calendula arranged in pyramids in the center and in low bowls down the full length of the table. Gold ribbons radiated from the center to the four corners where handsome crystal candelabras supported tall yellow tapers. A colorful Pilot banner was suspended over the main table where the speakers of the evening and the officers were seated.

Rev. Lea Joyner, honorary member of the Monroe club, gave the invocation, and the toastmaster, Mrs. Carroll, was introduced by the president, Mrs. Emma Lou Perkins.

An interesting and cleverly arranged program began with the introduction of guests by the toastmaster. She was familiar not only with their names and the business with which they were associated but with their club activities and affiliations.

Mrs. Nell Bennett, pianist, in her usual charming manner, made the occasion a festive one and group singing was enjoyed. Familiar and folk songs were led by Mrs. Zola Smith.

"What It Means to Be a Pilot" was given by Mrs. Ellen Thompson, charter member of the Monroe club.

An impressive candle lighting service was used by the outgoing president, Mrs. Emma Lou Perkins, in the installation of the new officers: Miss Nona (Dutch) Martin, president; Mrs. Elma Lois Williams, first vice president; Miss Helen Benoit, second vice president; Mrs. Lurline Wade, recording secretary; Miss Katie McGee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Janet Lynch, treasurer; Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll and Miss Ida Rose Strohm, board members.

Rev. Lea Joyner inspired the audience with two numbers on the accordion.

The guest speaker for this gala occasion was Mrs. E. W. Sartain. She used as her theme "Smart Women Knowing the Right Direction Go Forward with 'Full Speed Ahead'," mindful of their vocational duties and performing their social and civic responsibilities. She handled her subject in a most interesting manner and her charm and poise lent much to the dignity of the occasion.

Those privileged to enjoy this program were: Miss Mary Benoit and Miss Emma Lee Short from the Altrusa Club; Miss Maibel Hood and Mrs. Gladys Miles, state president of the Business & Professional Women's Club; Miss Mae Modes, Miss Marguerite Lindle, and Mrs. Lena Wallace of the Secretarial Club; Mrs. Ella Mae Albritton, Miss Alma Ruth Simmons, Miss Bess Sharp, Mrs. Janie McMullen, Miss Rosemary Margula, Miss Magdalen Amman, Mrs. Richard Bradley, Miss Hazel Garlington, Mrs. Nell Bennett, and Mrs. E. W. Sartain.

Mrs. Elma Wylie, Mrs. Maudie Gilley, Mrs. Janice McIver, Mrs. Polly Newcombe and Miss Ann Whitehouse of Shreveport.

Miss Mary Love, Miss Maude Travis, Miss Alice Stuart Oglesby, and Mrs. Lucille McGoldrich of Winnfield.

Mrs. Vettye Bernhardt, Mrs. Alyne Newsom, Mrs. Zola Smith, Mrs. Ruby Sager, Mrs. Mary Mill Harker, Mrs. Marie Woodward, Miss Katie McGee, Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll, Mrs. Janet Lynch, Miss Dutch Martin, Mrs. Ellen Thompson, Miss Helen Benoit, Mrs. Lurline Wade, Miss Louise Moore, Mrs. Lucille Coates, Mrs. Elma Lois Williams, Mrs. Sara Johnson, Miss Ida Rose Strohm, Rev. Lea Joyner, and Mrs. Emma Lou Perkins.

Annual O. P. H. S. Banquet Will Take Place Friday Night

When plans go forward for the annual senior class banquet then we know that vacation days are just ahead. One banquet in particular, anticipated with keen interest will take place next Friday night when the seniors of the Ouachita Parish high school will be entertained on the roof of the Virginia hotel.

Mr. Elliott Thompson will serve as toastmaster and Mr. James Sparks will be the guest speaker. Music will be under the direction of Miss Velma Nichols, director of vocal music at the Ouachita Parish high school.

The program of music promises to be exceptionally brilliant with talented musicians and vocalists featured.

KINDERGARTEN PUPILS OF THE GEORGIA TUCKER SCHOOL WILL BE PRESENTED IN OPERETTA

Most children live in a world of imagination and create for themselves many beautiful characters. As an example of a child's imagination will be a colorful operetta, "Dream Bags," presented at the Georgia Tucker school auditorium Tuesday night, May 13.

The "Dream Bags" which were blown away by the wind are found among the roses, when the children who are on their way to Dream Land, light the way for the Dream Fairy who has been in search for the lost Dream Bags. The Dream Fairy is overjoyed at their recovery and immediately starts on her night's journey. The children, in anticipation of the dream gifts the fairy will bring them, are eager for the Sandman's visit. The roses by the garden fence sing them a lullaby; the Sandman comes; the Dream Fairy brings each a bag of dreams, and finally they awake from a delightful night in the garden of Dream Land that has been filled with butterflies, bees, roses, pansies, school children, Little Bo-Peep, Little Miss Muffett, Indian Chief, and Indian Squaw, Ride-a-Cock-Horse, Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, The Prince, Goldilocks, and all the other Mother Goose children and Uncle Sam's Boys and Girls.

Cast of characters: Elfin Herald and Announcer, Thomas Davenport; Dream Fairy, Anna Katherine Whitman; Sandman, Ralph Corley; Dream Land Children, Caron Mulhearn, David Clifton, A. C. Manuscripts must be mailed to Olive Herring Nelson, Contest Chairman, 814 North Ash Street, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mail your registration fee and any requests for further information to: Arkansas Writers Conference, Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphis, Arkansas.

St. Joseph

Mrs. Jimmie Reid and her twin daughters, Anne and Joan, have returned to Hollywood, Calif., after a visit of six weeks to Mrs. Reid's mother, Mrs. Anne Harris.

The Wednesday Bridge Club and some additional guests enjoyed a pleasant club meeting with Mrs. A. E. Brink, who was hostess. Quantities of roses and iris added to the attractiveness of the hall of the house, where the card tables were placed. The games resulted in Mrs. C. B. Haddon winning first prize, Miss Apple Reiber second and Mrs. Dan Farrar won the floating prize. The guests were ushered into the dining-room after the games. The table was very pretty, overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with an antique compote of crystal overflowing with Crimson Rambler roses. A delicious salad plate, hot rolls, iced tea and a sweet course was served. Mrs. C. B. Haddon, Mrs. John Reddit and Miss Apple Reiber were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brink, who have made their home here for the past few years, are leaving to live in Magnolia, Ark., to the regret of many friends in St. Joseph. Mr. Brink is with the Carter Oil Company and is arriving in Magnolia within the next week. Mrs. Brink and their little family, are remaining until early in June, when they will join Mr. Brink in Magnolia.

Miss Marjorie Davidson has arrived in St. Joseph after an extended visit to Washington, D. C., New York, N. Y. and points in Connecticut and Virginia.

Miss Patsy Curry has returned to Tuscaloosa, Ala., after a visit of a few friends here, who regret very much their departure to live elsewhere. days to her father, Mr. Joseph Curry.

Mrs. Carl Lemmon of Fort Worth, Tex., is a guest of her father, Mr. Oliver Watson at "Lakewood" for a visit of two weeks.

Opera Club Members Meet With Mrs. Serex

Mrs. A. M. Serex, assisted by Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Jr., extended members of the Opera club the hospitality of her home. The program, unusually interesting, featured an artisle on "The Life of Bizet" presented by Mrs. C. R. Tidwell. The current Opera news was given by Mrs. M. L. Padgett. Mrs. James C. Liner, Jr., rendered a brilliant piano number, "March of the Toreadors," and Mrs. Milton Coalson sang in beautiful voice, "Habernera."

A social interlude permitted the hostess to serve delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Tidwell speaking on the life of Bizet, said:

"Georges Bizet, a French music composer, is remembered almost entirely for his brilliant and popular opera, Carmen. Bizet studied at the Paris Conservatory, where he distinguished himself in 1857 by winning the Prize of Rome, the highest honor the institution could award. After further study in Italy, he began the composition of operatic music, but Carmen, produced in 1875, shortly before his death, was the only work that received permanent recognition. This bright and melodious opera has enjoyed uninterrupted popularity.

"Carmen, a French tragic grand opera, has enjoyed extraordinary popularity since its first production in Paris in 1875. The scene is Seville, Spain, about 1820. The heroine, Carmen (soprano) is a Spanish cigarette girl of fiery temperament and wonderful fascination whose wiles win for her the love of Don Jose' (tenor) a corporal of the dragoons. Forgetting honor and duty in his mad love for her, Jose joins a band of smugglers. Carmen, having wrecked her lover's career, gives her fickle love to the handsome and popular bull fighter, Escamillo (baritone). Driven to frenzied jealousy by Carmen's heartless treatment, Jose' stabs her to death outside the gates of the arena, and the victorious Escamillo emerges with the shouting mob to find him sobbing over her body. The opera is full of color and dramatic interest, and the music is richly melodious. The famous Toreador son of Escamillo, and the Habanera, sung by Carmen, are enduringly popular, as are the many stirring choruses, the music of the overture, and the exquisite melodies of the third act, written for the secondary soprano role Micaela."

Members present were: Mrs. P. A. Colvin, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. A. R. Daughty, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Rodney Cline, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Duncan Smith, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. M. L. Padgett, Mrs. J. C. Kramer, Mrs. J. C. Liner Jr., Mrs. Milton Coalson and Mrs. C. R. Tidwell.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Feazel, of Ruston, La., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to Mr. Walter Lacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lacey, of West Monroe. The wedding will take place Sunday, May 25, at the First Baptist Church, West Monroe.

Miss Feazel, a graduate of the Ruston High School, is now associated with the radio station KMLB in this city. Mr. Lacey is associated with the West Side Flower and Gift Shop.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Betty Kathryn Rockett, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Dewey H. Rockett of Epps, La., whose engagement and approaching marriage to Rev. Earl Duane Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fred Mercer of Winnfield, La., has just been announced. The marriage will be solemnized in the Epps Baptist Church, June 7 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon with the bride-elect's father officiating. Miss Rockett will wed on her parents' 22nd wedding anniversary.

5TH DISTRICT'S TEACHERS MEET

Urge Adoption Of $100 Minimum Retirement; Election Held

The Fifth District Classroom Teachers meeting at the First Baptist Church annex, Saturday morning, heard its president, D. W. Griffith, report on retirement changes which will be presented for approval at the state-wide classroom teachers meeting in Alexandria next Saturday. One feature of the report was the urging that a $100 minimum salary for all teachers be adopted upon their retirement.

Louis Pilie, of New Orleans, recognized authority on retirement, had been consulted and will be invited to discuss retirement at the Alexandria meeting.

Miss Sue Stinson, of Jonesboro, was elected secretary to succeed Miss Juanita Porter who is to retire from teaching this month.

Mrs. Lillian Miller reported that 316 have paid their dues in the association.

This was the last meeting of the school year.

MRS. RICHARD TROY WILL MAKE INITIAL APPEARANCE IN LITTLE THEATRE PLAY

Vera Troy, who plays Penelope Sycamore in the forthcoming Little Theatre production of "You Can't Take It With You" is in private life Mrs. Dick Troy, mother of three handsome sons, Dick, Jr., a senior at Neville High School, Ralph and Nat.

Mrs. Troy portrays the role of Penny with charm and ease, and those participating in the play feel that she is ideally cast as she is noted for her wit and humorous slant on life.

Mrs. Troy came to the United States at the age of six from her native England and settled with her family in New York where she grew up attending the public schools of that city. While working with the National City Bank of New York she met her husband, Dick, who was attending Columbia University, studying advertising. They were married in New York and from there went to St. Paul, Minn., to live. From St. Paul they came south to New Orleans and thence to Monroe where they have resided since that time.

Mrs. Troy has been a definite asset to the city of Monroe, for she is a tireless worker in many civic organizations, one of these being the League of Women Voters. She also does a great deal of work with the Cub Scouts and recently directed their minstrel produced at Georgia Tucker.

Monroe audiences may be assured of an entertaining performance by Mrs. Troy Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the role of Penelope Sycamore.

In addition to Mrs. Troy the cast includes: Frank Breese as Grandpa Vanderhof, Penny's father; Armandine Renaud as Essie Carmichael, Penny's elder dancing daughter; Ken Jackson as Ed Carmichael, Essie's xylophonist husband; Maxine Plummer as Alice Sycamore, Penny's younger daughter, who is about the sanest member of the family; James McBeth as Tony Kirby, Alice's love interest; Helen Allen as Rheba, the colored maid; Legis Eugene Ledeker as Donald, the colored house boy; Joe Saragusa as Kolenkhov, Essie's dancing teacher; Fred James as Paul Sycamore, Penny's husband; Gus Bernheim as Mr. DePinna, who makes fireworks, and poses for Penny's paintings, John Allen as Mr. Kirby, Tony's father; Nell Grigsby as Mrs. Kirby, Tony's mother; Dorris Martin as both Gay Wellington and Olga Katrina, the grand duchess; Bid Causey as Mr. Henderson, who tries, without success to collect 22 years' back income tax from grandpa; Bert Bernheim, Len Reinsmith, and Tommy Fluornoy as the three G-men who add excitement to the plot of the play.

Tickets for this, the final production of the Little Theatre for the 1946-47 season may be purchased from either of the following places: Silverstein's, Alice Henry's Millinery, the Hollywood Restaurant, Bernheim Bros., or Armandine Renaud's Dance Studio.

The performance promises to be one that Monroe will remember pleasantly for a long time to come.

COMMENCEMENTS BEING PLANNED

Three High Schools Will Graduate Classes Of 1947

Neville High School will hold its baccalaureate exercises at the First Methodist Church, Sunday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m., with the pastor, Rev. A. M. Serex, delivering the address to the class which this year numbers 106.

On Tuesday, June 3, the alumni banquet will be held on Hotel Virginia roof.

Commencement will be on Thursday, June 5, but as yet the commencement speaker has not been announced.

The class of 1947 of the Ouachita Parish High School is now rapidly nearing its final events of the year.

The alumni banquet is scheduled for Hotel Virginia on the night of May 16 and the annual picnic in Bernstein park will be held May 22.

The baccalaureate exercises will be held in the parish school auditorium May 25 at 3 p.m. with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist Church, delivering the address.

Commencement will be held in Neville High School on the night of May 30. The class will number approximately 250. At the present time the commencement speaker has not been secured.

St. Matthew's Catholic High School will initiate the pre-commencement season with a senior play, "North a Dixie Moon," at Ouachita Parish High School, May 23. The 1947 class banquet will be held at Hotel Frances, May 27, and the alumni dance will follow the banquet. The banquet will be sponsored by the P.-T. A. of the school. On Sunday, May 25, the communion breakfast for seniors will be held at the 8 a.m. mass. The commencement will take place May 30 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Matthew's Church with Rev. Father Hubley addressing the class. The grades at St. Matthew's will have their final exercises May 27 at the 8 a.m. mass. The senior class of St. Matthew's this year is the largest ever, with 25 members.

CHURCHES

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont at Catalpa
Ernest D. Holloway, Minister

Providence willing the Rev. Dr. Daniel Patrick McCeachy, Jr., begins his ministry in our midst Monday evening 7:30 o'clock. He comes to us in the name of our Lord, and it is his desire that we not only attend the periods of worship but that we be much in prayer. He has left his busy and demanding pastorate to serve us. The least that we can do is to sit in the pew and hear. The elders of the church are sponsoring the first worship.

"A Saintly Mother's Earnest Desire" is the subject of our Mother's day message. What is that desire, the desire of a godly personality, whose devotion is obvious, and whose profession is undoubted? Her desire is pertinent to the special series of services which will be held in our church Monday, May 12, through Sunday, May 18.

"The Riddle of the Winds" is the last message on God, the Holy Spirit. It is the theme of the evening worship service.

The minister will be glad to consecrate to the Lord in Baptism such children as are presented at four in the afternoon of Sunday, May 11.

We greet you in His name, and invite your presence at all hours of service. It is our aim, whether always attained or no, to so plan the worship program that the worshipper must think, pray, and aspire after the Lord. A hearty welcome awaits you at the First Presbyterian Church.

PLEASANT HILL CONGREGATIONAL
Jonesboro Highway
A. O. Wright, Minister
West Monroe, La.

The Sardis and LaPine Home Demonstration Clubs will hold their yearly recognition religious service jointly at the Pleasant Hill Congregational Church Sunday, May 11th, 2:30 p. m. The pastor, Rev. A. O. Wright, will deliver the message of purpose and dedication. The national theme, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" will be the subject presented. The entire community is cordially invited to attend.

As Pleasant Hill's church building is in course of construction the services will be held on the church grounds if weather permits, otherwise, it will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kilpatrick just across the highway from the church.

As this is also Mother's Day it would be a fine tribute if the 4-H clubs of the community would also be present in full force.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe, La.
Dr. C. E. Autrey, Pastor
Dr. E. A. Autrey, Co-Pastor
O. F. Watts, Education-Music

"My Mother," will be the theme of the pastor at the morning hour. Inasmuch as this is Mother's Day we want to give due appreciation to the mothers and emphasize the importance of the Christian home. If possible try to have your entire family for this service. A beautiful boquet of roses will be given to the oldest person present.

"The Lamp Lighter," will be the subject of the evening message by the co-pastor.

9:45 a. m., Sunday school. 10:50 a. m., morning worship. 1:30 p. m. Baptist Crusade. 7:00 p. m., Training Union and Brotherhood. 8:00 p. m., evening worship.

CENTRAL ASSEMBLY OF GOD
Corner Hall and Calypso
L. O. Waldron, Pastor

At the morning service there will be a Mother's Day program presented. Songs appropriate for the occasion will be sung. The oldest and youngest mothers will be rewarded during the service. The pastor's subject will be "The Great Opportunity of Motherhood."

Sunday School 9:45 a. m., H. W. Holdiness, superintendent. Morning worship hour 11:00 o'clock. Christ's Ambassadors meet at 7:00 p. m., O. F. Millian, president. Evangelist William Panos will speak at the evening evangelistic service at 7:30.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
224 Auburn Avenue

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 11, 1947.

The Golden Text is: "As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Rom. 5:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul" (Gen. 2:7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Does Mind, God, enter matter to become there a mortal sinner, animated by the breath of God" (p. 525)?

Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.; Sunday service, 11:00 a. m.; Wednesday, 8:00 p. m.; reading room, 814 Bernhardt Bldg., open daily, 10:00-5:00 except Sundays and national holidays.

B. B. Fields, Music and Education

Our pastor and his wife are in St. Louis attending the closing sessions of the Southern Baptist convention, and will be home in time to give a report of the convention Wednesday night. They regret to be absent today, especially because this is "Mother's Day." We have as our guest speaker Rev. A. E. Blankenship, missionary from Brazil under our foreign mission board. He married the eldest daughter of Rev. C. B. Hall who was director of education in our church several years ago, now pastor at Winnsboro. We are very fortunate to have this consecrated and talented servant of the Lord preach for us both hours today. "Mother's Day" is also "Hospital Day" throughout the Southern Baptist convention, and we will make a special offering for the training of nurses in our collegiate school of nursing at Louisiana College. Miss Orpha Lou Wagnon will be at the morning service and speak five minutes on "The Need for Baptist Nurses in Baptist Hospitals."

All other services meet at the regular times. Remember that the evening services begin 15 minutes later —6:30 and 7:45.

"Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work; but the seventh is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work. . . . For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it." Exodus 20:8-11.

One day of every seven should be devoted to the worship of the Father of all. May we urge you to attend the church of your choice this Sabbath, and there offer prayers of thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father for the many rich blessings we enjoy.

To all of you, we extend a sincere invitation to come and worship with us. We assure you a warm welcome awaits everyone.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY WILL BE OBSERVED AS USUAL IN THIS CITY ON MAY TWELFTH

For the last quarter of a century, May 12, the birthday of Florence Nightingale, has been set aside as National Hospital day. The growth of these modern institutions reflects our civilization and they are an essential part of every well planned community.

Back in antiquity, man apparently had little mercy or compassion for an ailing neighbor. He believed that illness was brought on by the gods as an act of punishment or disloyalty and, therefore merited none of his consideration. In time it became the duty of certain dieties to look after those who were afflicted. As a result temples were erected and priests treated the sick.

Hospitals, as we know them today, originated in the Christian era. The bishop of a diocese always set aside a room for needy guests. Soon others imitated the practice and made similar arrangements in their households. At first, hospitals were used not only as a haven of rest, but for the indigent and insane. Later rooms were added and eventually separate buildings. The hotel Dieu in France was established for pilgrims between the seventh and ninth centuries. It is the oldest, continuously active hospital in the world. St. Bartholomew's is the oldest in England.

By the middle ages, scores of such institutions were dotted throughout Europe. Some were run by the church; others by the government. Statutes were passed regulating rules of sanitation and maintenance. The Brehon law stipulated "four doors for ventilation and a stream of water running through the middle of the floor; dogs, fools and scolding women must be kept from the patients."

In those days lack of scientific knowledge of sanitation plus many of the false concepts of disease often led to infections and epidemics. One in five died and surgical patients rarely recovered. Only hopeless cases entered their doors. In 1860 the court often gave women their choice of going to jail or nursing in a hospital. It is little wonder that our grandparents abhorred these establishments.

But the discoveries of Semmelwais, Pasteur, Lister and Holmes were responsible for marked changes. We know now that bacteria spread disease, and by segregation and cleanliness, germs can be held in check. Anesthesia and improvements in surgical technique helped to lower mortality. The nurses are of a high type and are trained properly before being allowed to nurse patients. The American College of Surgeons founded in 1914 serves as a watchdog for the safety of the public.

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—(AP)—Personal nomination for Hollywood's No. 1 mother: Loretta Young.

There may be other movie stars with more children (Loretta has three: Judy, 11; Christopher, 3; Peter 2) but none devotes more time and thought to rearing offspring than the brown-haired actress from Salt Lake City. One of her principles is never to talk about her children for publication. However, she relented for this Mother's Day story.

"Every child has a bit of braggadocio in him," she explained on "The Bishop's Wife" set. "If my children saw their names and pictures in print, it might go to their heads. And I don't want them to be overly impressed with the fact that their mother is an actress.

"I have impressed upon them that my first duty is as a mother. I also earn money as an actress."

Loretta, who is strictly Mrs. Tom Lewis at home, spends as much time with the children as possible. She works about 20 weeks out of the year and during that time a governess cares for them. But most of the rest of the time the actress watches after them, ready with counsel for their childish problems.

"Too many mothers feel that after they have their baby, after they have spent nine uncomfortable months, that their obligation is over," she said. "But they are wrong; their obligation is merely beginning. There is nothing more important than rearing your children."

Thus Loretta, whose time is worth an estimated $10,000 per week while making a movie, will spend hours teaching her daughter how to make a dress or driving guests home from a children's party. She has definite ideas about discipline, too.

"You can't force a child to do anything," she said. "I don't make my daughter wash her hands if she doesn't want to. But I know she will want to when her friends comment how dirty her hands are. Likewise I don't tell her to comb her hair, but remark how unattractive it looks uncombed. She has to have a reason for doing things."

Loretta claimed she wouldn't know her success as a mother until her children are grown. If all goes well, I think it will be due to a phrase she dropped in our conversation:

"Children should never be allowed to feel like interlopers in an adult world."

LOUISIANA 'AA' TRACK LAURELS TO HOLY CROSS

Metairie High In Class A With Bastrop Running A Close Third

BATON ROUGE, La., May 10.—(AP)—The Holy Cross Tigers from New Orleans scored a total of 53 1/2 points today to cop top honors in the Class AA of the annual state high school rally here. Baton Rouge High and Istrouma were tied for second with a total of 41 points each.

In the Class A section, Metairie High scored 45 points to nose out Oakdale which finished with a total of 44.

Other point scorers in the double A bracket were Fair Park, 35 1/2; Jesuit, 30; Byrd, 14; Fortier, 10; St. Aloysius, 8 1/2; Nicholls, 6, and Warren Easton 1.

Taking third place in the Class A division was DeRidder with 25, one point ahead of Crowley. Bastrop scored 21. Abbeville 20 1/2; Marksville, 13 1/2; Westwego 13 and Church Point 11.

St. Paul won the Class B title with 65 points, 31 points ahead of Plain Dealing which finished second with 34.

Holy Cross regained title honors in the double A track meet, paced by Joe Preston, Floyd and Lloyd Duffy, Robert Heap, Hank Lauricella, Al Hanzo, Larry Cinquemano, Frank Sullweld and Roland Hymel.

Jesuit High, the defending champion, felt the loss of Elton Correa, sprint star, who captured the 100 and 220 dashes last year. Correa finished fifth today.

In the championship baseball game, however, the Jesuit squad reversed an early season defeat to shutout the St. Aloysius Crusaders, 3 to nothing.

Class AA

CAREFUL, MR. ALLIGATOR

"Tuffy" Truesdale, the alligator wrestler, appears to be taking a big risk as he tucks his head between the gaping jaws of a ninefoot Florida alligator, and he and the 'gator, weighing 450 pounds, will be here Tuesday night as an added attraction at Gus Kallio's weekly wrestling show. Truesdale has boastingly declared he always wins his matches with the alligator. "If the 'gator ever wins, I'm out of business," Truesdale has informed promoters.

Faultless Outruns Favored Pilot, Phalanx To Win Preakness Stakes

On Trust Finishes Second In Desperate Drive To Hit Wire First

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Baltimore, May 10.—(AP)—The Missouri magic of the horse-training Jones boys, Ben and Jimmy, made a champ of a third-string colt—tall and rangy Faultless—today and sent him out to smash his way to a sizzling triumph in the 57th Preakness Stakes.

Fit and sharp and full of run where it counted—coming up the stretch—the lanky son of Bull Lea went through last week's Kentucky Derby winner, Jet Pilot, and around the California contender, On Trust, and hit the wire a length in front to the surprise of a large portion of a packed crowd of 40,222 jamming Ol' Hilltop for this renewal of the run for the Black-eyed susans.

It marked the third Preakness triumph for the classy Calumet farm of Chicago's Warren Wright, and was definitely one of the larger rabbits the Jones boys from Missouri have ever pulled out of a hat.

It wasn't only that this was the third choice of all the Calumet two-year olds of last season to be aimed for the jewels of the triple crown. But he was up against two horses who whipped him last week on a track he didn't like any more than short rations—in the Derby.

And this time he showed them who was boss, with everything else even up.

Both the Pilot and Phalanx—the one-two of last Saturday's run for the roses—ran the Preakness just as they were expected to, and couldn't win the pot. Phalanx came flying up with his usual closing kick, but the best he could get was third place, back of both Faultless and On Trust.

And the Pilot tried to get out in front by himself right from the starter's "come on, now," just as he did last week.

Only this time, in contrast to his unchallenged Derby charge he had competition galore right from the end starter's "come on, now," as first one, then another, of the speed horses ran at him.

As a result, the lone question-mark he left in his Derby win—could he take it when he was looked in the eye—was answered. He couldn't. He folded and tired and came home a wearying fourth.

It was a surprise windup of the widest open Preakness in years, but not one to cause eyebrows to pop off around this jam-packed racing plant. For Faultless was beaten only two heads last week, and had won six of his nine three-year old starts today.

And above everything else, he had sharp edge of condition on him that the Jones boys always work on their horses for the big jackpots.

As a result, he was made the second choice in the betting at $10.40, $4.80 and $2.80 across the board, with only stretch-flying Phalanx more heavily backed.

On Trust was $7.00 and $3.40 for place and show and Phalanx the legal minimum of $2.20 for third.

Faultless had, too, one of those tough-riding, hard-hitting little hooters from the cowboy country steering him. That was hard-faced little Doug Dodson, out of Elk River, Idaho, difficult to talk to and known as one of the most honest jockeys on anybody's race track.

And Dodson rode him as though he had written the book. He hustled Faultless along until he was in third place after three quarters of a mile of the mile-and-three sixteenths meander.

Meantime, the Pilot took right out in front. But this time, the undertaker's horse, King Bay, from the barn of Bernie Bax, Louisville Funeral director, ran at him as they went past the stands the first time. When King Bay had enough, On Trust, trying to become the first California-bred galloper in 30 years to get the black-eyed susans, asked him the question, just as Jockey Johnny Longden threatened he would, after the Derby.

The Pilot just didn't have it for the double challenge. The California flier went right past him and was out in front, on the head end, by two lengths.

Dodson, meantime, had worked Faultless up between horses, and, as they went past the three-eighths pole—three eighths of a mile from home—he gave him the green light. He zipped past the Pilot and took dead aim at On Trust.

As they straightened for home, he poked his way in front, and now Dodson was really whoop-de-doing in high gear.

He put the bat to Faultless, and Faultless fairly flew up the straight road home. At the finish, he had a length on On Trust and was still moving away. The son of the golden west coasted in a-wearying, but easily holding the place by 2 1/2 lengths over Phalanx, the gentleman from Virginia, who had been rushed from tenth place in the field of 11 by Eddie Arcaro.

But it was just the usual Phalanx flying at the finish, and as has happened more often than not, it wasn't good enough.

That is, it wasn't good enough for better than third, a length and a half in front of the fading Derby winner of last week—the Cosmetics Kid from the Maine Chance barn of Mrs. Elizabeth Graham.

Back of these four, they were strung out for practically a city block—Riskolater, 11th in the Derby, closing to fifth this time; Cosmic Bomb, fifth in the Derby, sixth today; Secnav, who was on vacation last Saturday, to seventh; Bullet Proof, the half-pint Virginian, eighth—one notch lower than his Derby finish; the Canadian campaigner, Cornish Knight, an even-going tenth, and, bringing up the rear after his brief bid at the start, King Bay.

He stopped badly, but he can take some credit as one of the deciding factors in the race—the "early lick" that ran at Jet Pilot and possibly took much of the highballing front-run out of the Derby king.

Faultless now takes his place with Wright's Whirlaway in 1941 and Pensive in '44 as the fancy wearers of the dyed daisies that Pimlico puts out in place of black-eyed susans.

It was a particular triumph, though, for plain Ben Jones, and even more especially, his son, Jimmy, a chip off the old block when it comes to giving the horse that running touch.

MISS SUGGS WINS SOUTHERN CROWN

ATLANTA, May 10.—(AP)—Trim Louise Suggs, a doubtful entry until the last minute, fought an unhill battle today finally to overwhelm Dot Kirby of Atlanta, 5-4, for her second title in the Southern Women's Golf Tournament.

Miss Suggs, from nearby Lithia Springs and a member of the same country club here as Miss Kirby, trailed in the morning round until the 18th hole where she knocked in a long putt to square the match. She was never behind after that, and after Miss Kirby had drawn even by taking the 35th hole, Miss Suggs captured five of the next seven to take the title she won first in 1941.

Under treatment of a physician for several weeks prior to the 32nd playing of the tournament, Miss Suggs wasn't sure she would be able to enter, or to finish if she did start. She is bothered with a nasal condition.

Miss Kirby, who won the title in 1937 and was runner-up last year to Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page at Dallas, jumped into an early lead after squaring the match on the sixth hole of the morning round.

She had the champion three down at the 14th, but lost the 15th, 17th and 18th.

The Allies were cut off from the sources of almost 95 per cent of their rubber supply when Singapore fell in 1942.

ALLIGATOR GETS BILLING ON MAT PROGRAM HERE

'Tuffy' Truesdale Battles 'Gator; Curtis Matched With Canny

A nine-foot 450-pound alligator will claim the spotlight at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night despite the fact that Promoter Kallio will be presenting on the same card such attractive ring personalities as Jack Curtis, world's light heavyweight champion, and "Wild Bill" Canny, new Louisiana state light-heavy titlist.

The big Florida reptile will go into action with "Tuffy" Truesdale, the alligator tamer, as an added feature to the usual two-match weekly mat show.

Kallio last night declared "this is one match, however, in which we know Truesdale will be the winner. If the alligator ever wins it will be just too bad for Mr. Truesdale."

The 'gator show will come midway of the wrestling program which will open with a preliminary scramble between Chris Belkas, Greek tussler from Toledo, Ohio, and Walter Stratton, Chicago.

Curtis and Canny are billed for the main event which will be a non-title scramble over a 90-minute time distance with two falls to win.

Curtis, long a favorite with local mat followers, has lost and rewon his belt since his last appearance here, and Canny, the very battler he is due to meet Tuesday, was the scrambler to dethrone him.

In a recent match at Jackson, Miss., Canny defeated Curtis for the title, but the very next week Canny was shorn of his newly won honors by Rex Mobley, but the following week Curtis took the crown right back from Mobley and has held on since.

But there's no titles threatened in the coming meeting, although a Canny victory might go a good ways toward getting him another title shot at Curtis.

Truesdale's drum beaters are saying about his alligator tussle:

"In action, in the ring, a live alligator is an unpredictable, completely unmanageable, unintelligent beast. Man is a natural enemy and the laws of self-preservation govern the struggle that ensues. Truesdale matches his speed, his cunning, his skill against the ferocious reptile's inherent instinct to maim, to wound, to kill, to devour.

"When Truesdale climaxes his performance, by forcing the alligator's vice-like jaws wide open and, with all the daredevilry at his command, puts his head deep within the gleaming rows of huge teeth and tusks, his very life hangs in slender balance. One bad move, one miscalculation, a moment's hesitation and death is certain."

MAROONS DEDICATE FIELD IN GAME WITH OLE MISS

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., May 10.—(AP)—Mississippi State's baseball field will be dedicated Wednesday afternoon, when the Maroons and Ole Miss open a two game series. It is named the C. R. (Dudy) Noble Athletic Field, 8, honor of the Mississippi State athletic director. Elaborate ceremonies have been planned.

Coach Noble has been an athletic figure at State College for 36 years as student, coach and athletic director.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Dual engagements on Louisiana State's spring sports program draws to a close this week with a double-header baseball game scheduled for the Bengal willow wallopers with Tulane at New Orleans Friday.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—John Jacobs, Oklahoma's veteran track coach, figures that one headache in track meets—especially the high school variety—is poor starting . . . Too many starters are too quick on the trigger, he maintains, with the result that when they do hold runners at "set" for two seconds, the kids jump the gun . . . Jacobs' remedy is instruction: "We've been having high school track in Oklahoma for 50 years and who ever heard of a school for starters?" . . . Featherweight Champion Willie Pep has begun therapeutic treatments on his left leg, injured in a plane crash, and hopes to start light training by July . . . Earl O. Stice, who took fourth money in the derby with On Trust and may do better in the Preakness today, recently bought one of California's top two-year-olds, Inconstant, with the idea of trying again next year.

Right Guy

Taking The Rap

A week ago this dept. picked Jet Pilot to win the Kentucky Derby—although the judges had to look at the photo before they could pick him after the race . . . The only reason was that the writer took a liking to the horse . . . For the same reason, and because he won the Pimlico Futurity over a fast track last fall, we're picking him to come home in the Preakness today . . . Hope the colt is as consistent as this backer.

Sportspurri

Although he recently was elevated to the vice-presidency of a large power company, Ray Goodman will continue to serve as president of the Coastal Plain Baseball League. Maybe he can give the hitters some power. . . . Columbia and Penn, rivals in almost every sport for years and years, will meet in their first dual track meet since 1909 today . . . Wonder if any schoolboy athlete can match the mark set by Alan Hegelein of Englewood, N. J., this week? On Tuesday he won the 220-yard dash and shot put (setting a league record with the shot). Wednesday he pitched a six-hitter and fanned 13 for the baseball team, losing the game because he didn't perform up to standard as cleanup hitter.

Weak End Items

After he finishes his first pro football season with the Boston Yanks, Fritz Barzilauskas plans to go right back to Yale to prepare for dental college. Apparently footballers learn to appreciate teeth after getting a few kicked out . . . Southern California's Roland Sink plans to concentrate on the two-mile run for the rest of the season. Seems Illinois' Bob Rehberg convinced him he can't win any mile titles . . . They have an ice hockey team in Belfast, Ireland, and are planning to organize one in Dublin . . . Absence of ice won't matter if they have shinelegns.

M'CARTHY 'STRIKES OUT' CALLING PREAKNESS RUN

BALTIMORE, May 10.—(AP)—Clem McCarthy, widely known sports announcer who specializes in horse race events, became confused today during the running of the Preakness and announced Jet Pilot as the winner although Faultless actually won.

McCarthy, speaking over an NBC hookup, realized his mistake immediately after the race and corrected himself.

McCarthy told his audience that he lost the horses for a moment when they were bunched and that when they straightened out again he mistook Faultless for Jet Pilot. They were wearing similar silks.

"I struck out," McCarthy added, "even Babe Ruth struck out sometimes."

SOFTBALL LEAGUES HOLD MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

A meeting of all managers of softball teams planning to compete in the Senior, Junior, and Midget leagues here this summer has been called for Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the Monroe Recreation Center, it was announced yesterday by Director Jack Hesketh.

"Important problems concerning the various leagues will be discussed at the meeting," Hesketh declared, "and it is necessary that every team have a representative on hand."

San Francisco draws its city water supply from Hetch Hetchy dam high in the Sierras 170 miles away.

BRAVES JOLTED OUT OF LEAGUE LEAD BY ROOKIE

Jensen Hurls Giants To Victory; Redlegs Humble Chicago Cubs

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Larry Jensen, rookie righthander, made his major league debut as a starting hurler a successful one today by hurling the New York Giants to a six-hit, 2-1 victory over the hustling Boston Braves.

Willard Marshall provided the 26-year-old recruit with his margin of victory by clouting Boston's Charley Barrett for a two-run homer in the fifth inning. The defeat snapped a four-game Boston winning streak.

PIRATES SINK CARDS

PITTSBURGH, May 10.—(AP)—Lefty Fritz Ostermueller pitched six-hit ball today as the Pittsburgh Pirates opened a long home stay with a 3 to 0 shutout win over the St. Louis Cardinals. A crowd of 12,579 braved the chill sunshine as the Pirates made the most of four hits collected from two Cardinal hurlers.

Murray Dickson started for the Cards and gave up only two hits until lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh. He was charged with his fourth straight loss.

REQUEST HUNTERS TO AIR OWN VIEWS ON DUCK SITUATION

A public meeting to be held at the St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans, Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock, duck hunters will be given the opportunity of expressing their views to the federal wildlife officials on the management of waterfowl.

The duck hunters, together with game administrators, representatives of sportsmen's associations, and conservationists, will, for the first time on record, actually assist in framing the federal regulations which will fix the bag limits, set the seasons, and otherwise control the harvest of migratory waterfowl.

This new departure is the result of an alarming decrease in the continental supply of waterfowl. The service feels the sportsmen have the right to know the true picture of the over-all conditions, and to enter actively into a discussion of measures that may be taken to alleviate the critical situation and assist in planning and developing a long-range program for waterfowl conservation and management.

The southern meeting, which is one of a series of eleven being held throughout the country, is designed primarily for sportsmen of Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, and eastern Texas. Principal speakers will include assistant director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, Dr. Clarence Cottam, and W. E. Couch, chief, division of game management. Dr. Ernest Angelo, president of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, will open the meeting and introduce the speakers and other prominent sportsmen.

Dr. Cottam will bring to the meeting the compilation of figures on the recent nation-wide waterfowl population estimate and the last-minute report on the present conditions on the breeding grounds. He will describe the complex procedure that has been developed for keeping up with the waterfowl and will tell about the prospects of next season's flight. He will want the sportsmen to tell about local conditions and ask them to help fit the local needs in the international program.

If Couch will explain a proposed plan for the long-range management of waterfowl to insure a perpetual supply of huntable surpluses. He will want the sportsmen to discuss, revise if necessary, and agree on such a program as he knows it cannot be successful without full support of the sportsmen.

PELS OBTAIN HEFLIN ON OPTION FROM RED SOX

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—(AP)—The New Orleans Southern Association Club has obtained pitcher Randy Heflin, a righthander, from the Boston Americans on option, Pelican General Manager Roy Dissinger announced today.

Heflin was with the Red Sox during 1945 and '46. Lately he has had arm trouble and is coming here on a trial basis, Dissinger said.

THE RECORD

BATON ROUGE, La.—Coaching record of Bernie Moore, Louisiana State's head football and track mentor, includes 78 grid contests won, against 36 losses and five ties, while his track teams have copped 12 of 15 Southeastern Conference cinder titles.

MOORE PREDICTS ENGINEERS WILL COP TRACK TITLE

L. S. U. Coach Sees Techmen As Own Tigers Successors To S. E. C. Crown

BATON ROUGE, La., May 10.—(AP)—Bernie Moore, whose Louisiana State University thinclads have dominated the Southeastern Conference cinder set-up since 1933, predicted today that Georgia Tech will win the 1947 track meet at Birmingham next week-end by 15 points over its nearest rival.

Moore, one of the nation's outstanding football and track coaches, allows in this, his annual forecast, a minimum scoring power of 55 points for the Tech Yellow Jackets.

He predicts further:

A four-way battle for second place in the meet among Tulane, Louisiana State, Auburn and Mississippi State, with Tulane heading the quartet.

This year's mile race "will be the most spectacular race in the history of the meet," Moore says.

Moore's L. S. U. Tiger track teams have won 11 of the Southeastern Conference titles in the past 15 years, including a national championship in 1933.

But he concedes that his current squad "is unable to cope with the strength of Georgia Tech" and that L. S. U. "will be lucky to cop third place in the meet."

L. S. U., defending champions, won the 1946 crown by scoring 54 1/2 points against 44 for Tech.

Squad losses since last season of Jim Pickett, who participated in a three-way tie for high jump honors; Ed Golden, who placed in the half mile and mile runs; Fred Bankston, point-maker in the shotput; and Gastogne Adams, second place winner in the two-mile run.

But his fifth and main reason for being downcast is the inability of Tom Swift Dickey to compete in the 100-yard dash, due to a leg ailment.

Dickey is top individual point-maker in the conference with a two year total of 28 1/2 points, winning first places last spring in the century, 22-yard dash and broad jump.

Moore prophesies that the Tech Jackets will "score heavily" in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the 120 high and 220-low hurdles, and in the javelin and shotput. He also believes Tech will score in the quarter mile, mile relay and 2-mile events.

Tulane, he thinks will roll up points in the half-mile, mile and pole vault, should win the 2-mile run, high and low hurdles, maybe the broad jump, and receive tallies in the shot put, discus and javelin events.

Tulane tripped L. S. U. in a dual meet two weeks ago 62 1/2 to 55 in their first victory over L. S. U. in 16 years.

Auburn, according to Moore, has two "very fine" middle distance men in Fred Carley and "Whitey" Overton; and probably the best high hurdler of the S. E. C. in "Penny" Pennington. Carley is defending conference champion in the half-mile and mile events.

Mississippi State boasts of the S. E.

PLAN ANOTHER SEMI-PRO LOOP

Organization of a new semi-pro baseball league for this section, catering to local talent and playing only on Sundays, was in the making last night as "Chic" Downing, West Monroe, announced plans were underway to form a circuit of at least six clubs in the immediate vicinity of West Monroe.

Downing, who attempted to field a club in the North Louisiana League but was nable to do so, said his West Monroe club would be able to go in a proposed circuit that would also include Natchitoches Road, White's Ferry, Point, Cross Roads, and Mer Rouge.

Rolph Sims, who operated a club in the North Louisiana circuit during the first half of last season, also reported he was planning to reorganize his old Lapine Wildcats and would welcome a chance to join the league proposed by Do ning.

Downing, who has called a meeting for Wednesday night at 7 o'clock at the News-Star-World office here for the purpose of organizing, said tentative plans called for an opening of the season as soon as possible, probably next Sunday, and playing until the middle of August when the playoff would begin.

Three other semi-pro groups already active in this section are the fast North Louisiana and Big Eight leagues, and the Valley League.

AMERICAN LEGION JUNIOR BASEBALL SET FOR OPENING

Ruston Gets First Game With Monroe-West Monroe Next Saturday

The American Legion Junior baseball campaign in the Fifth District of Louisiana, after weeks of preparation, will officially open next Saturday afternoon at Ruston where Coach Larry Fox' Ruston club will entertain the Monroe-West Monroe charges of Manager Pete Medak.

Other openers will follow next Sunday with Columbia at Jonesboro and Bastrop at Farmerville.

The games opening within the week will set off the program for the "East" area of the district which was divided into two leagues when ten towns in the district came up with the greatest number of legion baseball clubs in the 21-year history of the program in northeast Louisiana.

The "West League," composed of Winnsboro, Ferriday, Delhi, and Rayville doesn't officially open the season until May 27 when Ferriday goes to Rayville, and Winnsboro invades Delhi.

The West League will play a schedule of ten games for each team, and the two leaders at the close of the regular schedule will meet in a playoff for the league championship which must be determined by July 6. The West League of four teams will crown its leader at the close of a 12-game slate for each team as the club to meet the West representative in a playoff for the Fifth Districh championship which must be decided not later than July 13.

June 30 is the deadline for the official enrollment of players, and District Commissioner E. B. Todd has warned that it is necessary that all players must be properly qualified and birth certificates in order not later than this date.

Legion teams in both districts will play two games each week.

Opening home days for the clubs on the road for official openers will be May 23 for the West League with Farmerville at Monroe, and May 25 with Jonesboro at Bastrop, and Ruston at Columbia. In the East loop Winnsboro will be at home first with Rayville on May 29, and Delhi will invade Ferriday the same day.

In preparing for the first official game at Ruston next Saturday, Coach Fox announced he expects an "excellent pitching staff" with Louis Pipes, Billy Davis, and the Lowery twins who pitched this spring for Coach Moose Phillips' Ruston High School aggregation.

The Ruston catching is being handled by Allen Choudrant, regular on last season's team, and Herbert Colvin, Ruston High. An entire new infield is being built from Berry, Walker, and Smith of Ruston, Edmindson and Weir of Simsboro, and Kelly and Lee of Choudrant. Humble, a Calhoun boy and excellent hitter, is practically assured of an infield berth.

Several good hitters are trying for Ruston's outer gardens—Joe Colvin, John Dargan, Jeans, and Olive of Ruston, Frost of Choudrant, Skinner of Simsboro, and Thompson of Calhoun and several others due to report for the club later.

Manager Pete Medak has been doing a good job of rebuilding the Monroe-West Monroe club and promises a hard fighting team to defend the district title. McCain-Richards Motor Company is giving valuable assistance in support of the local entry, and Feazell Motor Company at Ruston has supplied a bus to help the Ruston outfit on its transportation.

FARMERVILLE INVADES

The Monroe-West Monroe American Legion Junior baseball team, tuning up for the official opener with Ruston next Saturday, will meet Coach "Doc" Elliott's strong Farmerville outfit here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Neville High School diamond.

The Farmers tripped Monroe-West Monroe early last week, and Manager Pete Medak's boys are anxious to even the exhibition series today.

CHICKS SHY 3 PLAYERS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 10.—(AP)—Manager Doc Prothro of the Memphis Chicks announced from Atlanta today the removal of three players from the club roster.

Prothro said he had shipped Ed Murphy, first baseman, to Terre Haute in the Three-Eye League, Pitcher Larry Brunke to the Chick farm at Gadsden, Ala., and Pitcher Don Grate back to the Philadelphia Phils from whom he had been obtained on option.

A new packaging device wraps two halves of sliced bread separately with an overwrap, thus keeping bread fresh longer.

MINIATURE RACERS PREPARE FOR MEET

The Louisiana Miniature Race Car Club at Monroe, preparing for the first meeting of a southern racing circuit at New Orleans, will tune up their tiny machines in a series of races this afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock on the club's speedway at Lakeside Country Club.

"Fran" Brennan, leader of the local club, last night announced Monroe and West Monroe miniature racers were planning to enter their machines in a speedway event at New Orleans on June 1 and were busy getting their cars in top shape for their trip to the Crescent City.

The cars of local enthusiasts have been making mighty good showings in trial runs in recent weeks, attaining speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour, and Monroe and West Monroe racers feel confident they will take a measure of the laurels at the New Orleans races.

The exhibitions this afternoon are free to the public.

DODGERS SNAP BACK

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—(AP)—Southpaw Joe Hatten gained his third straight victory today and snapped a three game Brooklyn losing skein by hurling the Dodgers to a 4-2 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Hatten allowed the Phils only six hits, including an inside-the-park homer by Andy Seminick in the second frame while his mates collected eight safeties off Tommy Hughes and Blix Donnelly.

REDS DOWN BRUINS

CINCINNATI, May 10.—(AP)—Ewell Blackwell pitched a five-hitter for his third win of the year today as the Cincinnati Reds downed the Chicago Cubs 5-1 in a game featured by the Redlegs' timely hitting and snappy fielding.

Eddie Miller, Cincinnati shortstop, belted his seventh home run in the second. The Reds turned in four double plays to keep Blackwell out of trouble.

FRANK HACKNEY BACK IN MONROE FOR VISIT

Remember Frank Hackney?

Well, the former star second baseman of the Monroe White Sox in the Cotton States League during the 1938 and 1939 season, now living in Dallas, Tex., arrived in Monroe yesterday with Mrs. Hackney for a short visit to renew old acquaintances and see the town once more.

Hackney is remembered as giving Monroe, with Shortstop Johnny Conway, one of the Cotton States' greatest keystone combinations and together they were a big factor in Monroe's winning of the league championship in 1938 after a dismal season start.

BIG 8 BASEBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN CAMPAIGN TODAY

Season Openers For Larry Fox' Circuit At Ruston, Marion, Debach

RUSTON, La., May 10.—(Special)—The Big Eight Baseball League, an enlarged edition of the old Big Six League that increased its membership by two clubs this year, opens its official season Sunday with games at Ruston, Hodge and Dubach.

The season openers present Simsboro at Ruston against the Ruston Rebels, Bernice at Hodge, and Marion at Dubach. The Ruston Volunteers, a second club from this city, and Farmerville will be inactive Sunday because the Vols will be unable to play on the first two league dates since most of that club is composed of players from Coach Berry Hinton's Louisiana Tech team which today left Ruston for a northern tour against collegiate competition.

The Big Eight plans to play games twice a week, Sundays and Wednesdays or Thursdays, the mid-week game depending on the weekly business holiday in the respective towns.

Larry J. Fox, Ruston, long associated with collegiate, American Legion Junior, and semi-pro baseball in Louisiana, is president of the Big Eight, a job he held with the Big Six circuit. Other league officials are Don Lomax, mayor of Bernice, vice president; and G. L. McIlveene, Dubach, secretary and treasurer.

Bernice, Farmerville, Simsboro, Marion, Dubach, and the Ruston Vols composed the Big Six last summer. New additions this year are Hodge and the Ruston Rebels.

Farmerville, idle Sunday while the Vols are away, go into action in their home park next Wednesday or Thursday, meeting Dubach. The Vols will be able to commence league play May 28, appearing for the first time against Simsboro and will have the first five games to make up.

Ruston is becoming something of a baseball Mecca this year with two teams in the Big Eight, an American Legion Junior club, a kids' team in the North Louisiana Kid League in addition to a local Kids' League sponsored by the Louisiana foundation with Coach Eddie McLane in charge of the youngsters.

ENGINEERS IN VISIT TO PLANT

N. J. C. Club Makes Inspection Of Interstate Gas

Engineering Club members of Northeast Junior College ended their 1946-47 activities Friday, May 9, with a tour of the Fairbanks compressor station of the Interstate Gas Company.

Following the inspection of the compressor station the group was entertained at a fish fry at the employes' clubhouse located on the west bank of Ouachita River near Sterlington.

Minute operation of the huge compressor units at Fairbanks was explained to the students by S. J. Blower, chief engineer, R. N. Lanningham, operating engineer, and E. D. Hewitt, shift engineer. An interesting bit of reaction appeared among veterans of the watchers when one of the smaller engines backfired while being started.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sloan acted as hosts at the clubhouse. College faculty members present as guests of the Engineers' Club were Dr. W. R. Hammond, William P. Grant, and Harry M. Lemert. Other guests were Fred G. Thatcher, executive secretary of the Louisiana School Boards Association, Mrs. J. S. Tarbutton, and James V. Mathis, editor of the college newspaper.

The Fairbanks trip marks the end of a year that has included a visit to the Louisiana Power and Light Company's Sterlington plant and attendance at Louisiana Tech's annual "Engineers' Day."

Grant Peacock, of West Monroe, has served as president of the club for the 1946-47 year. J. S. Tarbutton and W. B. Rickerson are faculty sponsors.

both of New York, have the captured orders.

Among the instances given was the slaying of 200 hostages in Athens in August, 1944, in retaliation for the death of the German General Krech.

Prisoners of war in the Balkans, the indictment said, were considered by the German generals as partisans and received no protection as required by the Geneva convention. As a result thousands of soldiers and prisoners of war were murdered or ill treated, the indictment added.

German armies participated also in rounding up Jews, Nationalists, gypsies and others for extermination in concentration camps, the indictment charged. Among acts listed were: Sept. 23, 1941, the entire male population of Sabac, Serbia, was thrown into a concentration camp; Oct. 11, 1941, 2,000 Jews were executed in Belgrade.

The indictment against the generals is part of the program of American war crimes courts to bring former Nazi leaders from all walks of life to the bar of justice. A report issued yesterday at Dachau said that since the end of the war more than 1,000 Germans have been tried there, with 873 persons convicted and 271 of them sentenced to death in concentration camp cases.

Students at Union High School in Salinas, Calif., now have to pass a compulsory driving course in order to graduate.

for promotion, the other got a higher rank as well; they were made PFCs and T-5s by the same order.

Even their serial numbers were only one point apart: Laughn's 38654606 and Vaughn's 38654608.

But, the boys say, there were some serious drawbacks.

One occurred when they were about to return to America. When they presented their currency books for exchange, the officers thought that one person was trying to get away with two sets of coupons, and tore up the one with the larger amount. Only when the mixup was explained, was all of the money restored.

There was another disadvantage, they pointed out ruefully: when one was put on KP, the other peeled potatoes too.

Back in this country, after their discharge, the boys struck out together—taking jobs with the Springhill Paper company near Shreveport. They began in the testing room, and later were moved to the laboratory—at the same time of course.

In January they enrolled in the B. M. I. business school in Monroe, signing up for the same courses and preparing to go into the same business when they finish.

When they applied for disability pensions from the VA, their troubles began all over. Laughn obtained his first, and when Vaughn requested his after not receiving it for several months, all the answers came to Laughn, expressing faint surprise that he should be seeking two compensations.

Finally they appeared at the office together, presenting undeniable proof that they were two different people, and got the matter cleared up. Even now, however, Laughn still gets answers to Vaughn's letters and vice versa.

Twenty-one years old in February, the boys were born in Choudrant and have lived their all their lives. They graduated from high school in June 1943, and worked at odd jobs until they were inducted the following April. They commute from Choudrant to school each day, finding it cheaper to stay at home than to board in Monroe.

The lack of physical resemblance seems to be the only way in which the boys differ to any great degree; both claim the same likes and dislikes, the same ambitions, and so far, the same experiences.

Before the war they dressed alike, but clothing shortages have forced them to forego duplication in that respect. Right now they can be distinguished by the girls they go with—one of whom is a brunette and the other a redhead. They can't quite figure out how they slipped up on that score, but since both come from the same town and live within a few blocks of each other, the boys feel that the discrepancy isn't too great.

Both like to bowl and play softball, but their schedule of classes coupled with the rigors of driving to and from school doesn't leave much time for diversion.

"We've been together in everything so far," they declared in an interview in a restaurant a few days ago, "and we hope to keep it up as long as possible."

"Our motto," Vaughn added, "Is where one goes the other goes; what one does, the other does."

Then they settled back as the waitress brought their orders—two platters of cabbage and ham.

themselves by active opposition to the Moscow decision.

Molotov's letter said the American commander proposed the amendment that the signing by any Korean parties or organizations of "communique No. 5," should entitle such groups to be nominated for consultation.

(Communique No. 5, issued by the joint Korean commission on April 27, 1946, was a declaration of good intentions to support the work and decisions of the commission.)

The American commander proposed further that such groups were entitled to be represented by persons of their choice, but if such representatives should be found hostile to the decision of one of the Allies the commission could ask his replacement by mutual agreement.

The American commander proposed also that such groups should be placed on their good behavior, and agree not to stir up antagonism against the joint commission, the Allied powers or the Moscow decision.

Molotov told Marshall that "to expedite the resumption of the work of the joint commission and the formation of the provisional Korean democratic government I am ready to accept the above amendments proposed by the American commander."

Molotov said that he believed that "in conformity with the Moscow agreement on Korea, after finishing the work involved in the formation of the provisional Korean democratic government, the joint commission should consider, with the participation of this government, proposals for the American and Soviet parties concerning measures for aid and assistance to the political, economic and social progress of the Korean people to the development of democratic self-government and the establishment of Korea's state independence, and submit agreed recommendations on these questions."

Scott, asked if he could think of any motive or impulse that made him shoot the senator, said "Senator Anglin and I have always been friends."

"Do you still consider him your friends?" Dr. Pine quizzed.

"Yes."

"Was he in anyway interfering with you in your personal or business affairs?"

Scott did not answer and Dr. Pine revised it; "What cause the impulse to shoot him—was it his fault?"

"Yes, in a way. For some reason he got the idea I was in his way."

"You think that. Do you know it?" Did you ever have reason to believe the senator would cause you harm?"

"Well he did shoot at me.

"That was after he was shot, wasn't it?"

Officers ,after examinging Anglin's gun which he drew when Scott shot, said that the senator's .25 caliber automatic was not fired).

"Well, that was a split second operation. I wouldn't want to say."

Who will say that Jaycees don't know how to advertise!

W. H. Anders, preparatory for a tasty Sunday dinner, purchasing four spring chickens at mid-week. They were incarcerated in a family coop at the rear of his residence, 201 Roselawn. On Friday Mrs. Anders reconnoitered and to her surprise found only three quite timid little broilers in captivity. "Did you buy three or four chickens?" she interrogated her spouse. He replied that there was a quartet out in the coop, but when she corrected him on the census of incarcerated feathered friends, he admitted that maybe he had been wrong that in his haste he might have said "Three" instead of "four" and anyway he hadn't counted very carefully. When he confirmed his wife's statement he concluded that perhaps there had been four originally but that some miscreant, hungry for southern fried chicken had taken one along with him. "But," his wife interposed, "Why should he select one and leave three behind?" The answer was not forthcoming. Later a survey of a large bush near the lawn of Matt Redmond, next door neighbor, disclosed the fugitive which was duly captured and the quartet again was unbroken.

RUSSIA BALKS AGAINST INTERNATIONAL WATCH

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—The United Nations security council faced a Russian-backed Slav revolt tonight against maintaining an international watch on the Balkans' troubled frontier areas.

Coinciding with House approval of President Truman's $400,000,000 aid program to help Greece and Turkey ward off Communism, the revolt was expected to precipitate a heated clash between Russia and the western powers.

The clash probably will come Monday when the security council convenes at 5:30 p. m. (E. D. T.) to reopen Greek charges of "outside" guerrilla activities against Greece's frontiers.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, asked for the council meeting. He said the request was made because of the decision of the council and its Balkan investigating commission to keep a subs diary inquiry board in the area to maintain a watch on border flare-ups.

Ths move came as Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria announced they would refuse to cooperate with the interim inquiry group and would oppose any inquiry across the frontiers.

The three Balkan countries acknowledged that they had premised to help the full commission, which presently is in Geneva preparing a report for the council on its investigations, but argued that their commitment did not cover the subcommission of investigators.

The subcommittee was instructed by the council to remain on the smoldering Balkan scene until the 11-nation security body takes action on the commission's forthcoming report on the facts behind Greek border incidents.

The Soviet delegation in Geneva backed the protesting Balkan group, contending that the commission had exceeded its authority in delegating wide powers to the subcommission. This stand was immediately challenged by the commission's British and American delegations.

The British and U. S. delegations here prepared to back up their representatives on the commission. They argued that fundamental issues of world charter obligations were at stake.

An American spokesman said that the United States considers that Yugoslavia, as a U. N. member, is bound to comply with any decisions of the security council, and that the council had ordered creation of a subcommission of inquiry to stand watch on the Balkan frontiers.

Both Britain and the United States were expected to insist Monday that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria "keep their promises" to cooperate with the sub-commission and permit its members to enter their territory.

AMERICAN HOMES MORTGAGED HEAVILY

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—American homes are carrying a $24,600,000,000 mortgage debt, the biggest in history.

The Federal Home Loan Bank administration, which issued the estimate today, said the sum is 15 per cent greater than the previous peak in 1930.

The housing shortage, "resulting often in forced purchase," and the revival of large scale home building after war-time restrictions contributed to the rise, the agency reported. It added:

"Inflated prices for old and newly built houses, plus G. I. loans at full value of the property as permitted by law, are also causes of the rapid expansion both in current lending totals and the outstanding balance of debt."

The 1946 increase in the mortgage debt was $4,600,000,000, nine times the rise in 1945 and much larger than the increase in the entire preceding decade.

"Many of the factors contributing to the rise in the total debt are expected to continue in 1947," the agency said.

public to "forego a Mother's Day call if possible" tomorrow.

A. T. and T. said a nation-wide checkup by its long lines division showed that only some 8,800 of the division's 26,700 employes were at work, and that they "obviously would be unable to take care of the traffic without long delays."

A strike settlement between the A. T. and T. and its 20,000 long lines union members has been announced but many unionists have refused to cross picket lines of employes of the Western Electric Company Bell Telephone manufacturing subsidiary, who still are on strike, and lines maintained by other telephone unions.

A spokesman for the A. T. and T. said the 8,800 workers on the job included 5,500 non-supervisory personnel. Of this 5,500 about 2,700 were said to be strikers who had returned to work since the settlement was announced.

Of the long lines division's 26,700 employes about 14,000 are operators, including those in a supervisory capacity.

In its statement the company said Mother's Day traffic ordinarily did not exceed that of an average business day, but added:

"However, it is a different kind of business. There is a lot of traffic to small towns off the main telephone highways—calls back home to mother from children in the city.

"This means a lot of 'built up' circuits—through some large city to a smaller town—many of them 'multi switch.' Such calls take a lot more time than the normal business traffic."

Employes have been brought in from non-operating departments to meet the emergency. Many have been working a seven-day week, it was said.

Meanwhile negotiatoins continued here between the Western Electric Company and representatives of the striking National Association of Telephone Equipment Workers, which claims 6,500 members in 29 W-E distributing houses in 24 states.

Two other unions of Western Electric employes have locals in various parts of the nation. They calim a total of 33,000 members and are negotiating with Western Electric in Washington.

Western Electric workers seek a $6 wage increase. Long distance telephone workers settled for a pay hike that averaged $1.40 weekly.

An early end was expected to the strike of switchboard operators in New Jersey, where 12,000 still are out. Henry Mayer, union counsel, said at Newark an agreement was expected "momentarily."

A spokesman for the New Jersey department of labor said he also "understands" that a settlement would be announced soon.

SOUTHWESTERN WORKERS REJECT COMPANY OFFER

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—(AP)—The Southwestern Telephone Workers' Union late today rejected a company offer of basic wage increases ranging from $2 to $4 a week made in an effort to end the 34-day-old strike.

Everett E. Cotter, general counsel for the union, called the proposal of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company "dishonorable" and "not made in good faith." The company's offer provided $4 for 10,000 employes, $2 for another 26,000 and $2 for the remaining 6,000.

In announcing the rejection, Cotter said the offer represented an average increase of $3.11. More than half of the company's employes, he said, would get $3 or less while some would get nothing. Union officials had previously announced they would not consider anything less than a $6 raise.

Company and union committees returned immediately to further negotiations with federal conciliators following the union rejection. The union committee had caucused for ten minutes prior to its announcement.

The union represents workers in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, and a part of Illinois.

OPERATORS IN MONROE STAY OUT IN SYMPATHY

With the single exception of Monroe, the 33-day-old telephone strike ended for Northeast Louisiana at 6 o'clock yesterday morning following settlement at Atlanta Friday night of differences between the Southern Bell company and members of the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers in nine states.

Although their own union had come to terms with the telephone company the operators and plant workers here, who are members of Local No. 414, remained out in sympathy with the Association of Communication Workers, 17 members of which—employes of the Western Electric company—took over the picket line at the Southern Bell exchange at Catalpa and Grammont streets, under the direction of J. B. Derryberry, union job steward.

Cecil Moore, chairman of the telephone workers, said at 8 a. m. yesterday he had called local 414 into "a continuous ssesion" at its strike headquarters and that the members would remain away from their jobs until the communications workers, "who have stood by us loyally, reach an agreement with their company."

Moore and Derryberry explained that the Western Electric strikers were permitted to picket only places where they had been employed, and that confined their line here to the exchange building where they had been engaged in installing new equipment. With no pickets at the Bell's business office at 116 South Grand and the warehouse at Breard and Ninth, union employes there could have returned to work at those places yesterday, but they elected to remain on strike in support of their communication colleagues.

Returning to work yesterday morning were 47 members of the telephone workers union at Ruston, 25 at Bastrop, 12 at Winnsboro, 12 at Tallulah, 11 at Lake Providence, eight at Ferriday, five at Arcadia and 11 at Haynesville, lifting the "emergency" calls only" rule for those exchanges. All of the strikers in those eight towns belong to Local 414. With the exception of Ruston there was no construction work in progress at any of those points and they were not affected by the Western Electric strike. L. N. Norred and H. R. Baumbach, communications union members at Ruston, were called here by Derryberry yesterday morning and the picket line there was discontinued.

TELEPHONE WORKERS BACK IN SAME PLACES

LAFAYETTE, La., May 10.—(AP)—Telephone workers were back at their posts in Crowley, Rayne, Eunice and Opelousas today, but the picket line of Western Electric employes stayed the return-to-work movement for Lafayette.

A. R. Capdepon, chairman of S. F. T. W. local 406, advised today that in accordance with over-all union policy, the operators in Lafayette would respect the picket line until withdrawn. Workers in the other communities embraced in local 406 were advised to return to work at a meeting hurriedly called after work of settlement reached here last night.

A total of two men and one woman comprise the Western Electric employes in the area.

Capdepon said that since there were about 21 Western Electric employes in New Iberia, that city's service was still suspended by a picket line too.

BUDDING PLOT IN BRAZIL CRUSHED

Number Of Sergeants Arrested In Scheme Against Government

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 10.—(AP)—An army general announced today that a budding plot against the government of President Eurico Gaspar Dutra was smashed with the arrest of a number of sergeants.

The announcement, made at a news conference by Gen. Zenobio Da Costa, commander of the Rio De Janeiro military region made no reference to the political color of the alleged plot, but the newspaper Diario De Noticias said earlier that its aim was to restore former President Getulio Vargas to power.

The newspaper quoted "authoritative sources" as saying that 30 sergeants were arrested for "organizing a military plot" on behalf of Vargas, whose 15-year regime as President ended dramatically in October, 1945, with his unexpected resignation.

The announcement came at a critical moment in Brazilian politics. Apparently the plot was discovered about the time the government moved drastically against the Communists this week closing down the party's national headquarters and 445 clubs after the supreme electoral tribunal had outlawed the party. An appeal to the supreme court is pending.

The administration was busy today reinforcing a "steel ring" intended to isolate the Communists from outside links by strict control of airports, railroads, highways and ports. Police forbade anyone visiting docked ships except passengers and newspapermen.

Vargas himself, in a speech before the senate yesterday, protested his loyalty to the government. Answering charges in the press and ioless, he said he was not seeking a return to power, declared himself against any agitation which would disturb public order, and pledged himself to defend the legally constituted government.

Vargas emerged again to political prominence in January in his home state of Sao Paulo, where, during gubernatorial elections, he led a newly organized labor party which proved to be the chief opposition to the Communists.

Gen. Da Costa, who was the commander of Brazil's expeditionary force in Italy during the war, told reporters the new plot had not reached the stage of a military uprising.

It was learned, however, that the plot had branches in the northeastern state of Ceara, and that there were some civilians among the plotters. The newspaper O Globo said one of the arrested sergeants carried on him a letter in which he wrote that he would be in Ceara soon, "no longer as a sergeant, but as an officer."

Da Costa in a speech to some of his military colleagues yesterday declared Brazil was "living in one of the most critical moments" of her history, and added:

"Unfortunately there are some false Brazilians who are betraying the motherland and trying to suffocate her with the blood of their brothers. Thus, the present moment is not for vacilliation but firmness in our attitude. Let us not allow them to stab Brazil. From our bodics we will make barricades which will defend Brazil."

GREEK GUERRILLA AMNESTY PROPOSED

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 10.—(AP)—Prof. Goerge Daux said in an interview today the French delegation on the Security Council's Balkan investigating commission would recommend an amnesty for guerillas in Greece to be supervised by the United Natinos.

Mark F. Ethridge, Jr., Chief of the American delegation also said "we favor an amnesty, but there is opposition in the commission on the grounds of sovereignty, and it might be dropped entirely."

Daux declared, however, that the Greek government "has many times granted and extended an amnesty, and it seems to me it would be no encroachment on Greek sovereignty to ask the United Nations to supervise an amnesty."

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Speculative and investment apathy kept today's stock market in a moderately irregular range with dealings among the smallest of the past three years.

While fractional advances were fairly well distributed near the close, many losers persisted. Transfers ran to around 250,000 shares.

American sugar refining preferred dropped 8 points on a single sale, first transaction since May 1.

Bonds were uneven and commodities mixed.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 10.—(AP)—A selling movement developed in grains during the latter part of trading today and prices broke sharply under the leadership of May wheat. Trading was active and numerous stop-loss orders were touched off on the decline.

Wheat fell more than 4 cents and corn more than 3 cents a bushel from yesterday's final prices at one time. Earlier, the market had opened steady and had staged a short-lived rally on a little short-covering and some commercial buying.

Wheat closed 3/4 to 3 cents lower, May $2.64-2.64 1/2, corn was 2 to 3 1/2 lower, May $1.67 1/8, and oats 1 1/2-5/8 lower, May 92 1/4-3/8.

CHICAGO, May 10. —(AP)— Grain case:

Wheat: 2.64-2.64 1/2; July, 2.22 1/4-1/2; Sept. 2.16 1/2-1/4; Dec. 2.14 1/2.

Corn: 92 1/4-3/8; July, 81 1/2-5/8; Sept. 75 1/4; Dec. 73 1/4-3/8.

Lard: July, 19.25; Sept. 19.45; Oct. 19.30; Nov. 18.25.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 50 cents a bale lower today. Sales 1,434 low middling 32.25, middling 36.50, good middling 37.10.

New York

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Cotton futures rallied to gains of almost $1 a bale early today, but subsequently lost most of the advance on increased profit taking and some hedging.

There was an active demand for July 1947 futures on buying, attributed partly to covering against sales of cotton to UNRRA. On the other hand some spot firms were good sellers of the nearby deliveries. They were believed liquidating future holdings against purchases of spot cotton at the primary markets.

There was considerable switching from old to new crop deliveries which sold at a sharp discount.

Futures closed 35 to $1.15 a bale lower than the previous close.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 10.—(AP)—Stores displaying signs reading "Drugs-Drug Store" which have no registered pharmacists and fill no prescriptions are violating act 66 of 1888, as amended, the attorney general's office held in an opinion released today. The ruling, written by Gerard A. Rault, special assistant attorney general, was addressed to K. M. Frank, Franklin, secretary-treasurer of the state board of pharmacy.

MOTHER OF THREE GUILTY IN DEATH

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Greene, 36, mother of three children, was convicted of murder in the second degree today in the pistol slaying of her 26-year-old Pawtucket neighbor, Mrs. Virginia Boston, who she charged had stolen her husband's affections.

The verdict carries with it a prison term of from 10 years to life. No date was set immediately for sentencing.

Mrs. Boston was slain on a Pawtucket street, Nov. 2, while on a shopping trip.

During the trial, which began April 29, the defense contended the frail housewife was temporarily insane when she fired two bullets into Mrs. Boston's head and neck.

William R. Goldberg, counsel for Mrs. Greene, who is estranged from her husband, Jack, said he would seek a new trial.

Judge Philip C. Joslin in a 55 minute charge to the jury said sympathy and prejudice had no part in the trial. He added that the only question the jury had to decide regarding the insanity defense was whether Mrs. Greene was insane when she shot the blonde, younger woman.

The defendant, sitting with her teen-age children, showed no emotion when the verdict was announced after three hours and two minutes of deliberation by a jury of six men and six women.

Dangers in Cold Wave Kits

An investigation by the Board of Control of Cosmetic Therapy reveals that dermatitis, irritation and damage to the hands and scalp may result from the chemicals used in Cold Wave Kits. These ill effects have been attributed to the thioglycollic acid in the Cold Waving solution.

A neutralizing solution is also applied which usually consists of citric or phosphoric acid and occasionally acetic acid, which stop the plasticizing action of the waving fluid. If the waving solution is allowed to remain on the hair too long, it will soften the hair to the point of disintegration.

The so called "Home Permanent Wave" places these chemicals in the hands of the untrained and inexperienced which may result in disaster to the user. The Journal of the American Medical Association and other leading magazines have reported cases of thioglycollic acid poisoning, dermatitis and damages to the hair and scalp resulting from the use of Cold Wave solutions. In one instance, a person using the process for the first time did not use the correct solution and for five or six weeks her hair came out in bunches until she was completely bald. It was almost a year before her hair grew out again. For these reasons the Board of Control recommends that the use of the Cold Wave process be left to a highly skilled and competent beauty operator.

The laws of this state relating to the practice of cosmetic therapy serve to protect the public in this regard by prohibiting the practice of cosmetic therapy (which is defined as including permanent waving, finger waving, etc.) by anyone other than a duly qualified and licensed beautician, and providing for a fine of $50.00 to $100.00 and or ten to thirty days imprisonment for a violation of such law.

Board of Control of Cosmetic Therapy
Mrs. Tressie Harris (Secretary)

'INTERVIEWING' THEME AT MEET

Public Health Nurses Addressed By Welfare Supervisor

The regular regional public health nurses staff meeting with Miss Agnes Brice, supervisor of department of public welfare, as leader and Miss Dorothy LeCloux, medical social worker, crippled children section, as co-leader was held a the Ouachita Parish Health Unit, Wednesday. The subject, "How to Interview," was ably led by Miss Brice. Mrs. T. Applewhite served as chairman. The leaders mentioned in part that everyone engages in interviewing. There are certain psychological traits which characterize most people most of the time and a skilled interviewer will do well to keep some of the more important of these in mind. There are characteristic modes of human action and reaction, and awareness of them tends to increase the satisfactoriness of one's relationship with others. The leaders stimulated the group into a very lively and profitable morning discussion.

The afternoon session was devoted to a community meeting with Dr. W. Carroll Summer serving as chairman. Representatives from different agencies and hospitals were present. The topic was "Program Reports In Tuberculosis in Ouachita Parish." The tuberculosis case register statistics were presented by Miss Agnes Bowe, tuberculosis nursing consultant, state health department, and these were discussed by Dr. D. L. Anderson, consultant on T. B. C. to the Cooley Sanitorium and state health department, and Dr. T. O. Carver, chief of the tuberculosis section, state department of health. Mr. Fincher, director of department of public welfare and Mr. Sandford, secretary, T. B. C. Society, and Miss Bernice Wright, medical social worker, Conway Hospital, and B. Nobles, laboratory technician No. I Branch Laboratory, cleared many points presented in the report.

Those present were: Bill Nobles, Caddo-Shreveport Laboratory; Miss B. Wright, Conway Hospital; Mr. Fincher, department of public welfare; Miss A. Brice, department of public welfare; E. Laurent, northern region; J. Moore, Lincoln parish; F. B. Cottingham, Caldwell parish; L. Anderson, Winn parish; W. R. Durham, X-ray technician, Ouachita parish; Mary Frances Nash, Ouachita; P. Tarver, Ouachita; A. Hudson, Ouachita; E. Trapp, Ouachita; A. Jones, Ouachita; A. Rogers, Ouachita; T. Applewhite, Franklin; B. Richmond, Franklin; I. Naylor, Madison; Mrs. E. Montgomery, director, department of public welfare, Madison; M. Kelly, Ouachita; Mr. Sandford, secretary, T. B. C. Society; Elizabeth Waterbury, tuberculosis nursing consultant, New York state; A. Bowe, T. B. C. nursing consultant, state department of health; Dorothy LeCloux, medical social worker, crippled children section, state department of health; Agnes Brice, supervisor, department of public welfare; Louise Guidry, northern region; Dr. W. Carroll Summer, director, Ouachita Parish Health Unit; and others.

'BIG PARTY' IS SHOWING TODAY

Mardi Gras Time In Orleans To Be Movie At Paramount

Simultaneous with the showing of the feature attraction "New Orleans," at the Paramount Theater, starting today, is the special added attraction "The Big Party," a bright lively picture of the Mardi Gras and a searching exploration of the city. "The Big Party" catches the flavor of the carnival and the spirit of New Orleans' enterprise behind it.

Mardi Gras, the big party, is the heart of the New Orleans program. The carnival is a million laughs and songs. It is also a multi-million dollar business at which the city works all year around. A year of toil and three weeks of play—becomes the focus of Director Cameraman Howard Winner's lens. He shows the secret preparations for parades and balls, sponsored by exclusive social clubs whose members are virtually unknown to the celebrating public. He follows costume designers from sketch to ermine robe, watches in the secret "dens" as parade floats take form for the grand march and records the intricate ceremonies at the courts of carnival kings and queens.

Then comes the great day. Clowns and confetti, dazling parades of Rex and the crazy crowds of merry makers. A city wild with joy. At night the last and biggest of the tableaux-balls which have been held almost every night since Christmas. And at dawn the private breakfast of the king and his court . . . and the tired, happy celebrants flocking to all night coffee stands in the French Quarter.

"The Big Party" has a brilliant Nathaniel Skilkret musical score—based on authentic Creole melodies, the photography is superb and gives the spectator a front row seat with its gaiety, brightness and fascinating detail.

It has been acclaimed the outstanding featurette of the 1947 movie season.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

BENTON, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—Jim Pritchard likes to sit in his small inner office in the old Franklin County Courthouse and watch the townspeople go by.

"Hullo, Jim," they say.

"How're you, neighbor?" says Jim.

Big Jim Pritchard has fought in two wars, but his local renown lies in the belief he is the toughest county sheriff in an area where toughness is a virtue—the Southern Illinois coal mining region.

Big Jim used to be a baseball pitcher and boxer and is built like a pouter pigeon, mostly chest. His head is slowly balding. His voice is slow and mild but his eyes are as cold as a couple of brown marbles. At 47 Jim—if he really gets mad—still prefers to toss away his gun and take his prisoners with his fists.

But townsfolk like best to tell of how Big Jim—who caught a piece of shrapnel and a Purple Heart in France in the first World War—put the rope on Charlie Birger, most notorious gangster ever to reign in the coal fields underworld.

Birger, a flamboyant figure who liked to push burning cigarettes into the flesh of people he had nominated for a ride, ruled vice, gambling and bootlegging in eight Illinois counties when Pritchard took office in 1926.

Big Jim sent him word:

"Stay out of my county or I'll hang you or kill you."

Birger answered by sending two teen-age brothers over to murder the Mayor of West City, which adjoins Benton. He paid the boys $150—$50 for each bullet they put into the mayor.

Big Jim got his first real evidence when one boy, imprisoned for a hold-up, tattled in revenge after Birger's gunmen shot to death the other brother for knowing too much. Pritchard and other law enforcement officers kept checking for months until they uncovered thirteen murders by the Birger gang. Among the victims were a state highway patrolman and his pregnant wife.

His case complete, Big Jim rode over alone to the county where Birger lived and called him to the door.

"I've got the place surrounded," he lied. He had studied Birger long enough to feel he knew what the gangster would do in a tight place. He was right. Birger gave up.

On the morning of April 19, 1928, jaunty again after collapsing in his cell, Birger stood on a scaffold by the Benton County jail. Tickets for the hanging sold for $15—unofficially. Charlie shook hands with everybody around the trapdoor but Pritchard.

"Him and I just never got along at all," recalled Big Jim.

They put the rope around Birger's neck, he looked up and said, "it's a wondreful world"—and then he just dropped right out of it. Big Jim had kept his promise. The gang was smashed.

Pritchard sent word to the four Shelton brothers running a rival gang his same ultimatum: "stay out of my county or I'll hang you or kill you." They withdrew.

You can't succeed yourself as sheriff in this county, that's what the law says. Big Jim was out of politics when the second World War came along so he enlisted as a seaman. He served on convoy duty in the Atlantic and did Naval Intelligence.

He came back to run for office and led the ticket. He gets $2,600 salary and $2,400 expenses annually.

"Yes, I enjoy it," he said, easing his 6-foot-1-inch frame back into his cane-bottomed chair. "The longer you're a peace officer the better you like it. You get a kick out of maneuvering the other fellow. This county is clean of racketeering, and it's going to stay clean."

Big Jim is one county sheriff with whom the gangsters want no return engagement. He's too rough.

In 1883 a bill in the British Parliament to limit work of children in factories to ten hours a day was defeated and bitterly denounced.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson's forthright speech on America's obligations in assisting world recovery provides us with an excellent illustration of just how sensitive this chaotic old world of ours is to authoritative comment on economic and political affairs.

Acheson's statement was made before businessmen and farmers under auspices of the Delta Council at Cleveland, Miss., Thursday without fanfare, and yet within a matter of hours it was producing international repercussions—some favorable and others hostile. Among points made by the undersecretary were these:

America "must push ahead with the reconstruction of those two great workshops of Europe and Asia—Germany and Japan—unon which the ultimate recovery of the two continents s olargely depends." She must take as large a volume of imports as possible to narrow the financial gap between what the world needs and what it can pay. She must undertake further emergency financing of foreign purchases, and her emergency aid must be concentrated in areas where it will be most effective in building political and economic stability and promoting democracy.

A British foreign office spokesman said his country welcomed the proposal that the United States increase imports to bolster international trade. He figured Acheson's analysis of global economic problems was "far-sighted and wise." The London Times was more cautious and expressed the view that the under secretary's proposal that reconstruction of Germany and Japan should be pushed ahead was a controversial one.

And sure enough the Times was right, for the Paris Communist newspaper L'Humanite came out with a blast which expressed the hope that next year's V-E day celebration "would not see a Germany transformed into a factory that is Europe's arsenal." The paper also declared:

"We did not fight this war to alienate the independence of most of the European nations by fostering the economic expansionism of the United States. More and more Americans, and not only Henry Wallace, view such a policy not only as dangerous but even as an absurd one."

Yesterday the Moscow magazine New Times also dealt editorially with the politico-economic situation, though apparently not in answer to Acheson. In the course of a long article the New Times said:

"The mongers of a new war, as Henry Wallace put it, keep the kettle of hostility towards the Soviet Union at the boiling point. The imperialistic circles of the Anglo-Saxon countries are building bigger plans for their expansion, plans for economic and political enslavement of foreign peoples."

The plan for economic reconstruction of Japan and Germany naturally will encounter much opposition, partly because of fear of further aggression and partly because of lack of understanding of how essential these two countries are to the economies of Asia and Europe. We shouldn't overlook, too, that it might serve the political aims of some nations to keep the Reich and Japan from resuming their former positions.

It really isn't so strange that many people in Europe and Asia should fail to understand that world recovery depends so heavily on the early rehabilitation of Germany and Japan. Never before has there been such a demonstration of the indispensability of these "two great workshops," for world war one left them relatively sound. Moreover, the first world upheaval produced no such general chaos as the last.

However, America and Britain are among the nations recognizing that it is imperative to restore Germany and Japan economically, while rendering them incapable of waging further war. And the signs are that the Anglo-American pair will proceed with the rehabilitation independently if nobody else wants to join in the task.

FIRE ALARMS

A Pontiac coupe, owned by H. J. Hennigan, caught on fire yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock near the Rainbow Inn. Monroe firemen answered the alarm and explained that the fire had been caused by a lighted cigarette.

A defective chimney was ascribed as the cause of a fire that destroyed a four-room Negro dwelling on the Filhiol plantation on the Old Columbia Road, 12 miles south of Monroe, Friday evening. Plantation hands carried out the cabin's contents, and later formed a bucket line and kept the truck tank of Monroe's No. 3 company replenished with water while firemen prevented spread of flames to other nearby buildings.

Companies 2 and 4 answered an alarm at 4:50 p. m., Friday at the H. A. Smith home, 4409 Jackson Avenue, where a window curtain had been ignited by blowing against the kitchen stove.

Of the 21 amino acids which have been identified as components of proteins, only about half have any real nutritive value.

BLESSED VIRGIN TO BE CROWNED

Exercises Planned For St. Paschal's Church In West Monroe

St. Paschal's Church will celebrate Mother's Day with a double ceremony. In the morning, twelve children will receive their First Holy Communion at the 9 o'clock mass. The children are as follows: Jackie Scalf, Michael Potier, David Petrus, Bernard Lyons, Doris Bourgeois, Carolyn Block, Barbara Peters, Kay Foster, Mary Lu LeBlanc, Frances Ann Brownlee, Annie Coronado, and Carol Cage. At 3 o'clock, these children will be enrolled into the Arch Confraternity of the Scapular of the Blessed Virgin.

The ceremony of the crowning of the Mother of God, the Queen of May, will follow immediately. The queen who will perform the crowning is Janette Daigle; her attendants, Charlene Shanas and Veronica Hervey; and the crown bearer, Jackie Hummel.

The queen's maids with their attendants are as follows: Lena Belle Battaglia, attended by Wanda Lou Moutcn and Ronald G. Gooden; Joyce Marie Dempsey, by Barbara Schroeder and Billy Battaglia; Violet Venable, by Peggy Venable and Johnnie Marula; Patricia Burkett, by Carolyn and Danny DuBcs; Joycelyn Jolissaint, by Sandra Lou Jolissaint and Johnnie Rivoire; Eva Coronado, by Rose Marie Daigle and David Smith; Madeline Lyons, by Carolyn Jowers and Michael Lynch; Colene White, by Anne Ragland and Leo White; Althea Burkett, by Carolyn Danna and Charles Burkett; and Juanita Soignier, by Shirley Jolissaint and Elton Purvis.

The services will be concluded with the benediction with the Blessed Sacrament.

THE NATION TODAY By JAMES MARLOW

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—There'll be some shortage in school books next year but—

Grammar School Johnny and High School Charley ought to be able to make out pretty well just the same.

This is the guess of the American Textbook Institute which tells this story.

During the war, grammar and high schools bought as few new textbooks as possible. Now there's a pent-up demand for them.

So far, the makers of textbooks haven't been able to meet the demand and probably won't for another year or so.

Last fall, at the start of the present school year, the institute figured grammar and high schools were short about 9,000,000 books.

Next fall, at the start of the new school year, they'll be short of about 4,500,000 textbooks, or only half as many as this year.

Even so, the schools have on hand now millions of old textbooks which can be used for their students.

So, while the full demand won't be met, the students are expected to have enough books to go around.

The shortages, where they occur, probably will be spotty. Which means: The shortages won't be centered in any one place.

The bookmakers now are turning out approximately 100,000,000 textbooks a year.

To meet the demand, they'd have to be turning out 105,000,000.

For one thing, paper still is short.

And there are mechanical bottlenecks. For example:

A lot of other books, besides textbooks, have to be printed on the presses which turn out the textbooks.

So the textbook-maker has to schedule his press time ahead of time. In other words: take his turn.

If a textbook maker misses his scheduled time for any reason, he loses it and has to work out another schedule by taking his turn.

EXTENSION WORK WILL BE GIVEN

Teachers Will Have Opportunity To Secure Credits

A few general extension courses will be offered at Northeast Junior College during the summer. Some of the teachers in the Monroe area have indicated they would be interested in courses similar to the ones offered at N. J. C. last summer.

Dr. Nason of L. S. U. will offer one course, either Education 185 or 186. Three semester hours credit for each course will be given to students. The course work will be completed during June. Neither one of the Education courses have been offered in Monroe. Education 185 is general history of Education. Education 186 is a course in History of American Education.

Students who are interested in the extension courses should get in touch with the director of General Extension work at Northeast Junior College immediately. In order to form a class it will be necessary for twelve persons to register for the course.

For information call 4200, General Extension director at Northeast Junior College.

BUILDING PERMITS

W. A. Carter to add to a one-story frame building to be used for a store and residence, located at 821 Thomas Street. The total cost will not exceed $250 and the owner will do the building.

Jonas Hopkins to move a one-story frame building that was used for a garage from the 800 block of Georgia Street to lot 26 and 27, block 6 of the Faulk Addition. The building is valued at $50 and the owner will do the moving.

Mrs. Margerite Kirtley to add to a one-story frame building used for a dwelling, located at 1409 South Fourth Street. The total cost will not exceed $30 and day labor will be used.

Ten amino acids are now regarded as essential for nutrition of rats but only eight for human beings.

CAMP HAPPY LAND TO BE OPERATED

Girl Scouts And Brownies To Have Outings June 17, July 3

Camp Happy Land will be operated again this summer by the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council for Brownies and Scouts from June 17-July 3, announces Miss Alice Stanford, executive-secretary of the council. The day camp will be available each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during this period.

Campers will pay a fee of $3.30, which includes bus fare, milk and craft materials for the nine-day program.

Scouts must register for camping at the Girl Scout office in the Ouachita parish courthouse by June 1 to be eligible for activities.

The camp program proved to be so popular last summer that the event was included in the calendar of activities planned this year for Scouts. Leaders declare that camping will appeal to any girl who would like the fun of out-door living in a beautiful, wooded place, folk dancing, singing around the camp fire, cooking out of doors, learning crafts and enjoying trees, birds and wild flowers.

Trained experienced leaders are to serve as counselors of the camp, a registered nurse is to be on the staff, and all sanitation requirements are to be observed, Miss Stanford explained. The council recommends that all girls planning to go to Camp Happy Land take typhoid shots.

Girls are asked to wear cool wash dresses or shorts with shirts, socks and comfortable shoes. Each should take a drinking cup, Scout knife, nosebag lunch and a blanket or ground covering.

Transportation will be provided by buses running on the following schedule: Leaving Northeast Junior College at 9 a. m., Georgia Tucker School, 9:15 a. m., Ouachita parish ccurthouse, 9:45 a. m., Crosley School, 9:50 a. m. Campers will return to Crosley at 4:10 p. m., the courthouse at 4:40 p. m., Georgia Tucker at 4:45 p. m., and Northeast Junior College at 4:50 p. m.

A day at camp will open at 9:30 a. m. with games and singing for an hour. These will be followed with unit activities such as nature study, outdoor crafts, sketching and trail cookery.

The lunch period will be followed by a rest period and story telling, then will come unit activities comprising folk dancing, dramatics, games and gardening. A general camp fire program will complete the day.

Unit affairs are planned by Scouts with their unit leaders with a view toward following the interest of the girls.

A MILLION DOLLARS TO RELIEVE PILES

It is estimated that over a million dollars annually is spent for various remedies for relieving piles. Yet any druggist will tell you that soothing, cooling, astringent Peterson's Ointment will allay pile torture in a few minutes. 35c a box. 60c in tube with applicator. Peterson's Ointment brings prompt, joyful relief from itching. Money back if not delighted. (Adv.)

CAPT. EASY AND THE PIRATES
GEORGE WUNDER
WHAT'S THE MATTER, PAT? YOU LOOK WORRIED.
I'M WORRIED ABOUT ERMINE'S FAT FRIEND—THIS LATEST REPORT FROM MY UNDERCOVER PEOPLE STATES THAT HE CAN'T BE FOUND AT THE CAFES HE USUALLY FREQUENTS TO BUY INFORMATION ...I DON'T LIKE IT.
BUT I THOUGHT YOUR IDEA WAS TO LET ERMINE AND THE FAT JOKER DEVELOP THEIR SCHEME UNTIL YOU HAD THE COMPLETE PICTURE—THEN, YOU SWOOP DOWN ON 'EM.
THAT'S THE GENERAL IDEA, BUT HIS DISAPPEARANCE PROBABLY MEANS HE'S READY TO ACT AND, UNLESS ERMINE TIPS ME OFF BY TRYING TO PULL A FAST DEAL SOON, THE FAT BOY MIGHT SUCCEED.
EVEN IF HE DOES, IT WILL LIKELY TURN OUT TO BE A VERY ORDINARY CRIME ... AFTER ALL, HE JUST HAPPENS TO LOOK LIKE YOUR THREE-HUNDRED-YEARS-AGO CONQUEROR.
I WISH I COULD CONVINCE MYSELF OF THAT...BUT EVER SINCE I CAUGHT A GLIMPSE OF HIS FACE AND CONNECTED IT WITH THAT OLD PORTRAIT, I'VE HAD THE DOGGONEDEST FEELING!
MEANWHILE, FAR TO THE NORTH, AT A VILLAGE TELEGRAPH STATION...
QUIET, YOU CHATTERING APES! DO YOU NOT SEE I AM RECEIVING A MESSAGE FROM THE CAPITAL CITY?
A MESSAGE TO OUR HUMBLE VILLAGE FROM THE GREAT CITY! THIS IS AN HONOR—WHAT DOES IT SAY?
FOOL! THE MESSAGE IS FOR THE EYE OF ALI, THE VILLAGE HEADMAN. HERE—ONE OF YOU TAKE IT TO HIM.
BEHOLD, MASTER ALI! A MESSAGE BY THE CLICKING INSTRUMENT FROM THE GREAT CITY.
GIVE IT TO ME, AND BEGONE!
THIS IS A STRANGE MESSAGE, MASTER—IT READS..."PLEASED TO STATE THAT SHEEP ARE READY TO BE SHEARED. NOW IS THE TIME TO EXPECT WOLVES TO ATTACK FLOCKS"... IT IS FROM ONE CALLED "BOR". WHAT WOULD A CITY DWELLER KNOW OF SHEEP AND WOLVES?
YOU ARE THE STUPID ONE! THIS IS THE SIGNAL WE HAVE WAITED FOR. SEND WORD TO THE CHIEFTAINS OF THE PROVINCE TO COME AT ONCE.
... TELL THEM THAT THE FOREIGNER, BOR, COMES TO LEAD THEM TO RICH LOOT, JUST AS HIS ANCESTOR DID IN THE OLDEN TIME.

THAT'S FINE, MR. CLARK, AND BE SURE TO SAY THAT ANY KIDS CAN JOIN OUR CLUB WHO WANT TO BE LAW-ABIDING, UPSTANDING CITIZENS.
DOES YOUR CLUB HAVE A MOTTO, JUNIOR?
YES, WE FEEL THAT TOO MUCH IDLENESS IS NOT GOOD. WE BELIEVE IN HAVING ODD JOBS AFTER SCHOOL. OUR MOTTO IS "WORK AND WIN."
VERY GOOD!
"WORK AND WIN"! GREAT! IT COULD VERY WELL BECOME A NATIONAL SLOGAN.
GEE! DO YOU THINK SO, MR. CLARK?
GOSH! GLANCE COMES OUT JUNE 6TH! AFTER THAT OUR "CRIME STOPPERS" CLUB WILL BE KNOWN FROM COAST TO COAST.

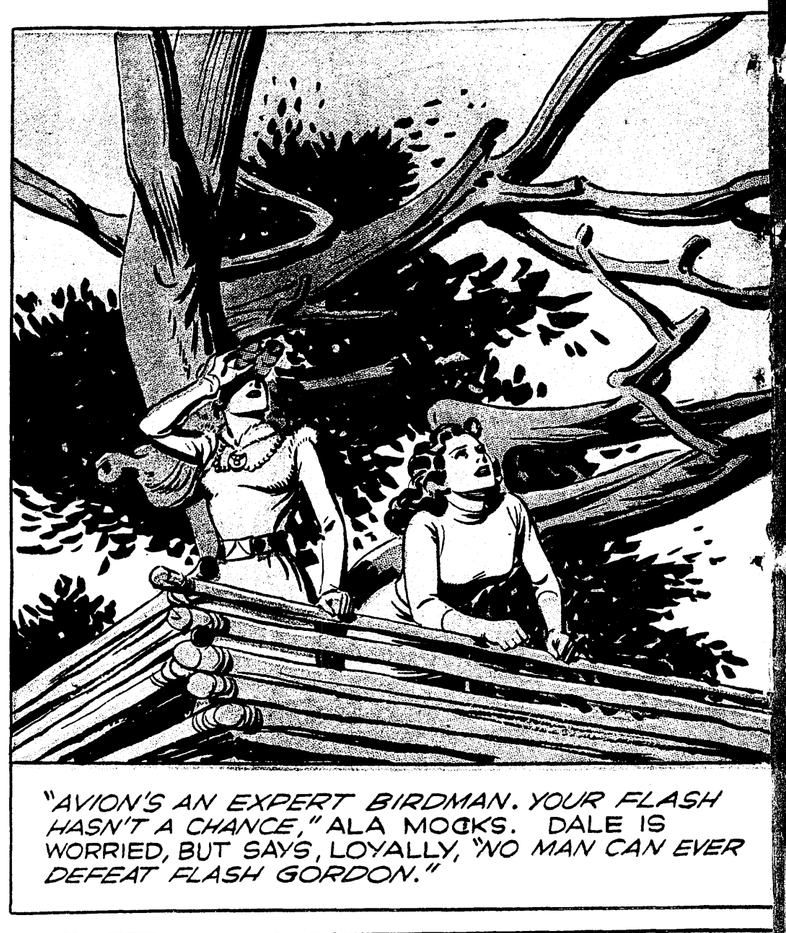
FLASH ACCEPTS THE CHALLENGE TO AN AIR DUEL FOR HIS FREEDOM. AVION BURSTS OUT, "MY QUEEN, IF I LIVE, WILL YOU MARRY ME?" ALA IS STARTLED: "YOU LOVE ME? YES, I PROMISE -- BUT YOU'LL BOTH DIE, SURELY!"

THE IRREPRESSIBLE TALKY CHATTERS: "SOME FUN. BET YOU LOSE! HERE'S A TIP, CHUM -- DON'T LET HIM DIVE UNDER YOU AND DISABLE YOUR HORSE-BIRD. IT'S A LONG FALL!"



"AVION'S AN EXPERT BIRDMAN. YOUR FLASH HASN'T A CHANCE," ALA MOCKS. DALE IS WORRIED, BUT SAYS, LOYALLY, "NO MAN CAN EVER DEFEAT FLASH GORDON."

THE TWO PUT TOWARD EACH OTHER AT TOP SPEED. FLASH HOPES TO LIVE ENOUGH SECONDS TO LEARN THE TRICKS OF THIS STRANGE FORM OF DUELING.

AT THE LAST MOMENT, AVION DIVES TO SLASH AT FLASH'S HORSE-BIRD, BUT THANKS TO TALKY'S WARNING, FLASH IS READY, AND DIVES AT AVION.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS - AVION LANDS A BLOW ON THE WING OF FLASH'S MOUNT. THE CRIPPLED HORSE-BIRD FIGHTS TO KEEP ON FLYING.

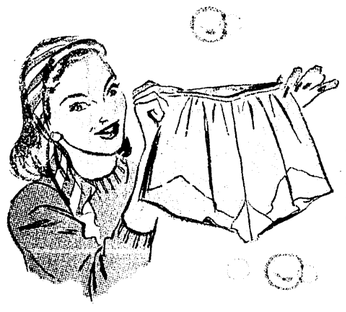
For SILKS, NYLONS, WOOLENS, DISHES

PROCTER & GAMBLE brings you this Outstanding Washing Miracle!

• DREFT is the patented suds discovery of Procter & Gamble. Dreft cannot be duplicated—it's different from any other suds you've ever used! ALL DREFT'S sensational claims are backed by Procter & Gamble.



LINGERIE Stays Brighter! Fresher! No Soap-Fading! It's the greatest suds discovery in 2000 years! You'll agree when you see how your lovely lingerie stays color-bright and fresh far longer when washed with Dreft. There's no film to cause soap-fading. Dreft's rich suds keep your pretty slips, blouses, "undies" brighter and fresher than any soap could ever do.

NEW WOOLENS
Wash Softer and Fluffier than Ever Before!
When washed in Dreft suds your precious new woolens are a joy to look at—a delight to feel! No soapy deposit to coarsen woolens and dim their colors. Your lovely new sweaters and baby things wash softer and fluffier than with even the most expensive soap flakes!

DISHES SHINE WITHOUT WIPING!
Your postwar miracle is here now! No soap in the world performs the miracles Dreft performs in your dishpan. It makes dishes shine—even without wiping! That's because Dreft's amazing suds rinse clean and clear—they leave no greasy streaks or cloudiness the way all soaps do. Even glasses sparkle without touching a towel to them. And Dreft is kind to hands.

STOCKINGS
Wear Longer! Look Lovelier Than With any Soap!
You'll be delighted the way Dreft suds leave no soapy film to heavy-up hose and cloud their beauty. What's more—colors stay fresh far longer than with any soap. See how nightly Dreft-washing prolongs stocking life—gives noticeably longer wear!

DREFT
BRINGS YOU
FASTER, BRIGHTER, SAFER CLEANING
—than any Suds before in History!

Procter & Gamble's patented suds discovery!
